TWISTERS' AFTERMATH: Rubble of destroyed buildings litter downtown Canton in west central Illinois. A tornado touched down in city Wednesday evening claiming three lives and 55 injuries. (AP Wirephoto)

Illinois Twister Kills 2!

CANTON, Ill. (AP) — National Guardsmen moved into the city today to prevent looting after a tornado slashed through a three-block section in the downtown area and killed two persons.

At least 55 others were injured Wednesday, including 15 who were hospitalized, authorities reported. Three were in critical condition.

Officials estimated the damage in this city of 15,000 in the millions of dollars and the number of homes and stores destroyed or damaged in the hundreds.

Five persons were arrested on looting charges overnight and 250 Guardsmen from Bloomington, Delevan and Peoria were ordered to duty to prevent further theft and to help clear the wreckage.

The twister's winds were so forceful that a 15-foot wooden plank was driven through an auto engine block, splitting the front of the car in two.

The late evening twister slammed into the central Illinois community of 15,000 persons Wednesday and several hours after sunrise today electricity was still out and telephone service badly disrupted.

"I know that when you get up and look around," Mayor Robert Jennings said in an early morning broadcast over a local radio station, "it's going to hit you and hit you hard."

The tornado snapped off utility poles, ripped roofs off many buildings, overturned autos, uprooted scores of trees and shattered hundreds of windows.

Police said all stores except those selling food would be required to stay closed today and the town was sealed to outsiders except those on official business.

The dead were identified as Mattie Sprague and Dorothy McCann, 69, both of the Norton Trailer Court.

At various times, three and four persons were reported killed, but authorities finally determined that the number was two.

The area hit by the tornado included City Square and another block farther south, and also caused extensive damage elsewhere. Authorities said at least minor damage was sustained in nearby rural areas.

Sewage Project For Niles Urged

The Berrien county board of public works (BPW) yesterday recommended that the county board of commissioners approve a contract between the county and City of Niles for construction and financing of a $19.9 million sewage treatment system and separate storm sewer system for Niles.

The BPW also at the meeting indicated a willingness to accept responsibility for implementing and administering a solid waste plan for the county.

Both items require final approval by the county board.

The contract for construction of the Niles sewage system would be between the county and city through the BPW, according to Robert Barnes, BPW director.

Barnes noted the bonding resolution calling for $5,155,000 on the city's part was previously adopted by the city, and the remaining funds needed for construction would come from grants. He said the system would include a sewage treatment plant, an interceptor, and storm sewer. Barnes forecast the project would begin sometime this fall, with an expected completion date in about two years.

Barnes also said the BPW may take over responsibility for implementation of the county's few solid waste plan sometime in August if the board of commissioners approves. The plan, the result of a year's work by the Solid Waste Advisory committee, basically calls for continued use of landfill sites to dispose of solid waste.

The BPW and advisory committee held a joint meeting yesterday after the regular BPW meeting to review the plan. Members of the advisory committee said they felt their group had met its objective of developing an acceptable solid waste plan for the county, and complimented David Houseman, staff coordinator for the committee, for his efforts in overseeing and helping develop the plan.

The joint meeting was the last for the advisory committee, which disbanded yesterday after completing its work. Members of the committee included: Herbert Seeder, chairman; Robert Palmer, vice chairman; Eckenstahler, Barnes, Houseman, Lamont Tifts, Dr. Robert Lacey, Ben Baldwin, Jr., C. Winslow Henkle, Edward Strong, Ben Luckner, Donald Shook, Larry Smith, and Mrs. Marge Hartwig.

Levi: Judges Afraid Of Enforcing Laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi blames the nation's continuing increase in crime on frightened judges, a complacent public, and prosecutors and police who are reluctant to enforce laws in black communities.

"Judges throughout the United States are afraid to enforce the criminal law," Levi said in response to questions about the crime rate during a Voice of America interview recorded Wednesday for broadcast Saturday.

Asked whether he believed the American public "accepts the high level of crime," Levi replied, "Yes, I do. It's amazing."

He continued, "We have a very erroneous notion on the part of many people in prosecutors' offices and in police departments that there was some unfairness in enforcing the criminal law because it might hit at certain groups, that it might be harsh on minority groups."

But the attorney general added, "The opposite is true. That kind of attitude which has given fewer services to the inner city, therefore less fire protection, fewer playgrounds, and above all, less enforcement of the criminal law, is a terrible way to treat a minority population, and I think that is now coming to be realized."

Levi said he expects "great changes, really, in our success in handling this."

He cited the Ford administration's proposal for mandatory minimum prison sentences for violent and serious federal offenders.

However, the administration proposal would not reach most violent attacks and street crimes because they are violations of state law, not federal law.

Levi frequently has criticized judges for failing to send repeat offenders to prison. But this was the first time he has contended that they are "afraid to enforce the criminal law." He did not elaborate on the statement.

Levi said he was not surprised that the latest FBI statistics showed that the nation's crime rate rose 18 per cent during the first three months of 1975, compared with the same period a year ago.

"I don't think it's surprising we have this increase," he said. "I rather think it's surprising it hasn't gone up more than that. The way to change it is to try to change the accepting attitude of the American public. That is the first thing."

On another subject, Levi said he has not yet received a report from the FBI on burglaries.

Lottery Drawing Tonight

The usual list of winning Michigan lottery numbers — Green Game and Gold Game — carried on the front page of this newspaper each Thursday will now be printed on Friday.

The lottery, in an effort to attract an even larger fan club, launches its weekly live television program this week. But instead of having the numbers at 10 a.m. each Thursday, it will be after 7 p.m. on Thursday night before the numbers are drawn.

Six state television stations carry the program, but some can be picked up in the Twin Cities area.

Flint Board Asks Veto

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — The Flint school board, which faces tough bargaining with teachers, has called on Gov. William Milliken to veto school strike legislation passed this week by the state Senate. Board president Paul Newman claimed the bill could result in a delay in the opening of school, shorter vacations and probably no spring recess. The Flint district, with some 40,000 students, is the second-largest in the state. Flint teachers have not yet settled with the board on a new contract. Milliken has indicated he will veto the measure if not changed to meet his requirement for economic penalties designed to discourage walkouts.

State Lagging On Giving Aged, Blind Welfare Hikes

By JIM KEEGSTRA
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — More than 110,000 welfare recipients in Michigan are being denied a federally authorized cost-of-living increase because the state hasn't passed it on, a Michigan congressman says.

State welfare officials say they can't pass along the 8 per cent raise in benefits unless the legislature gives its okay. Key lawmakers say they hope to act soon.

The House has passed an appropriations bill authorizing the boost. It is pending in the Senate.

A $12 hike in supplemental security income benefits paid to the aged, blind and disabled by the state and federal government is contained in the bill, now in the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Chairman Jerome Hart, D-Saginaw, says he hopes to study it for the first time "in the next couple of days."

The measure would increase the supplement from $170 a month for an individual living alone to $182 if passed by the legislature and signed by Gov. William Milliken.

It would involve raising the state's share of the supplement. The state reduced its share July 1 so that benefits did not increase even though the federal share went up.

Democratic legislative leaders were asked by U.S. Rep. Philip Ruppe, R-Mich., to approve the increase, thus returning the state payment to its previous level.

In letters to House Speaker Bobby Crim and Senate Majority Leader William Fitzgerald, Ruppe said recipients of the supplemental benefits are being denied the cost-of-living increase because of state reluctance to pass the raise along.

The majority of the payments come from the federal government. The state pays the remainder up to certain maximums.

Those maximums are set by the state Department of Social Services and depend on the ## State's Top Judges Asked: Should Swainson Stay On?

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Leaders of the Michigan Judges Association are being polled to determine if the 200-member organization should call for the resignation of state Supreme Court Justice John Swainson.

Eighteen executive board members are being asked by letter if "any recommendation should be made by the Michigan Judges Association in regard to the present Supreme Court situation?"

Washtenaw County Circuit Court Judge William Ager, association president, said the question was asked Tuesday.

Ager said returns are expected before the association's September meeting. He said the matter was not taken up at a recent July meeting.

Swainson, 48, was indicted July 3 on seven federal felony charges including bribery, conspiracy and perjury. He has said through his lawyer that he does not intend to resign from his Supreme Court post, which carries an annual $60,000 salary.

Swainson has, however, withdrawn from active participation in all court business. Ager refused Wednesday to say if he feels Swainson, a former governor, should resign. Association membership includes judges of the state appeals, circuit, common pleas and recorders courts that excludes the seven Supreme Court justices.

Stephen C. Bransdorfer, State Bar of Michigan president, has said Swainson should step down because his inactive presence on the court hobbles court business. Bransdorfer emphasized he was speaking for himself and not the State Bar, which has taken no official position on Swainson's remaining on the court.

Politics Produces Much Gas, But No Oil

Before Watergate forced him from the White House, Richard Nixon announced a policy goal for the U.S. to reach energy self sufficiency by 1985.

It was his response to OPEC, the Oil Producing, Exporting Countries, sharply raising crude petroleum prices and embargoing importing nations deemed overly friendly to Israel, the pet peeve of all Arab states.

Nixon broadly defined the instruments for reaching that goal as a stimulus in domestic fossil fuel production from all sources and a massive research program to harness non-fossil energy sources. The latter included everything from windmills to nuclear fueled plants for generating electricity.

For all the praise, in and out Washington, Nixon's bold statement drew, the U.S. is as far away today from being independent of foreign oil imports as it was two years ago.

The per capita consumption of refined petroleum products, mainly in gasoline, dropped a few percentage points last year and it is only this uncertain factor which enables the country to float by today on a speculative availability in this vital material.

The Ford Administration and a fractious Congress being steered erratically by a 1974 freshman crop of liberal Democrats are still locking horns on how to break away from the OPEC stranglehold.

Two Congressional enactments, due to expire August 31st, unless the standoff from each end of Pennsylvania Avenue is broken, account for the stalemate.

They are Presidential authority to raise or lower import tariffs on foreign oil by up to $2 a barrel and a price control differential between old oil and new oil.

Old oil is that amount pumped domestically in 1972. New oil is any surplus above that level.

Old oil, by law, is priced under half of what new oil commands in the world marketplace.

Ford wants to retain the tariff authority and to decontrol domestic prices at the wellhead.

His liberal Democratic opposition favors outright import restrictions and the continuance of price control, including a rollback on new oil.

The argument between them is a move to encourage more efficient domestic production as opposed to the consumerism complaint about the poor man being forced to walk while his better heeled neighbor luxuriates behind the wheel on gasoline at a dollar per gallon.

The one bright spot in the clouded controversy is that each side seemingly thinks a compromise will have to be reached. Stalling the agreement is the customary political stumbling block of whom should make the first gesture.

Important as it is to settle the dispute so that gasoline does not jump to a dollar per gallon, nothing is being done on the more fundamental problem of expanding energy sources themselves. What private research is being applied to the conundrum is proceeding without support from Washington, almost in spite of the government.

Ross Wilhelm, the U-M Graduate School of Business Administration's highly articulate spokesman, illustrates one glaring example of this official diffidence.

Last year the Mexican government announced a potentially fruitful source of petroleum in the eastern part of the Gulf of Mexico. Further drilling disclosed the Destin anticline to be barren.

Disappointing as is that confirmation, Wilhelm notes that the offshore Alaskan and Atlantic coastlines bear strong geological promise of petroleum. At least Atlantic areas have been so logged.

Yet the government proposes to open up only one site to exploration in the near future.

Citing the Mexican example, Wilhelm simply points out the risk in putting all the eggs in a single basket.

When Washington will budge and what brand of dynamite may be necessary to bestir the capitol is the frustrating guess.

Philosophy Has Changed Since Teddy Roosevelt

Physical fitness of Americans should be improving, with increased knowledge of dietary needs, food in surplus supply and greatly increased leisure for outdoor sports.

Statistics provided by the military fail to bear out this theory, and on the contrary indicate that Americans are a weakening people.

Changes which have taken place in all phases of American life in the last tree-quarters of a century are highlighted by an excerpt from a speech delivered by Theodore Roosevelt in 1891:

"Our country calls not for the life of ease, but for the life of strenuous endeavor . . . If we shrink from the hard contests where men must win at hazard of their lives and at the risk of all they hold dear, then the bolder and stronger peoples will pass us by and will win for themselves the domination of the world," he predicted.

"Let us therefore boldly face the life of strife, resolute to do our duty well and manfully . . . resolute to be both honest and brave, to serve high ideals, yet to use practical methods."

That sounds like someone talking from a different world. And it was. Were Teddy talking today, he might have to change his text to match conditions. Like this:

"Our country provides all citizens with security from want and most citizens with a life of ease . . . We must be brave and swallow foolish pride in taking the subsidies and privileges from government which are rightfully ours . . . The bolder and stronger people are demanding shorter work weeks at higher pay so more time can be devoted to living graciously."

"Let us therefore cease from worrying about such things as obligation and duty, inflation and debt . . . resolute to trust in government for all things, dedicated to the proposition that it is just a debt we owe ourselves."

Within the scope of these two statements lies the polar difference between the creed of individualism and a philosophy in which individuals are fused into faceless, nameless digits.

DR. PERCY JULIAN'S CAREER REVIEWED

Editor:

Dr. Percy L. Julian, who died a few weeks ago, leaves behind both a legacy and a life story which can be a great inspiration to Black youths. And, as I read with sadness of his passing, I could not help but wonder how many of our young Blacks in high school, in college, and in the early stages of their career development knew of Dr. Julian and his accomplishments as well as his dedication to excellence in performance. It was the combination of his accomplishments and his pursuit of excellence which made him such a great man — the kind of man who lived a life which can be used as a model for those young people who so desperately need positive images to pattern their own lives after.

Seventy-six years old when he died, Percy Julian was born in Montgomery, Alabama. He was the grandson of a slave and the son of a man whom many considered to be a mathematical genius but who toiled as a mail clerk. Like most young Black children, Percy Julian's early education was of inferior quality, so much so that when he entered DePauw University in Greencastle, Indiana in 1916, he was not considered a full-fledged freshman. He was classified as a "sub-freshman" and had to make up high school courses which had been denied him while carrying his regular college load. Percy Julian went through the usual racial discrimination that Blacks faced then and still face today in more subtle ways.

But Percy Julian overcame these obstacles and when he graduated from DePauw, the highest ranking person in that class, was Percy Julian, who by then had been inducted into the highest honorary society, Phi Beta Kappa. Percy Julian's field was chemistry, a science which most Black youths today shy away from. He taught chemistry at Fisk University for a while then went to Harvard University to receive his Masters. Still overcoming racial barriers, Percy Julian finally won a Rockefeller Foundation Grant and received his doctorate degree from the University of Vienna in 1931. He taught at several Black universities, was rejected for teaching posts by major white universities.

Then he obtained a position in industry and made enormous achievements in the field of chemistry. Percy Julian went to work as head of the soybean research section of the Glidden Paint Company. His most widely acclaimed accomplishment was the discovery of a low-cost means of synthetically producing cortisone, which is used to treat the pains of arthritis and other diseases and injuries. This opened up a new avenue of medical treatment for millions of people. In addition, Dr. Julian developed a soy protein extract used in the coating of paper. He perfected the mass production of sex hormones, some of which were later used in the development of birth control pills. Dr. Julian figured out a way to mass-produce the drug physostigmine, used to treat the eye disease Glaucoma. He invented a firefighting foam called "bean soup" to put out oil and gasoline fires. In 1954 Dr. Julian opened his own laboratories, Julian Laboratories in Franklin Park and in Mexico City. He was a trustee or director of five universities, an indication of his concern for the education of youth. Even so great a man faced the wrath of whites when he moved into Oak Park in 1950.

His home was bombed. But nothing could bomb Percy Julian's knowledge, his commitment to excellence, and his dedication to the service of people. And that is the legacy of a great man — Dr. Percy Julian.

Do You REMEMBER?

— 16 Years Ago —

Between the heat and the screams of some 2,400 teenagers who paid $2.50 to $2.75 apiece to get in, sleep was a premium Friday night within a half-mile or so of the other Unicorn on M-139. A cluster of rock-a-roll singing stars packed the popular open-air teen dance spot, and then continued singing and autographing well into the morning at the nearby Holiday Inn motel for part of the crowd that kept wanting more. Among the stars were Jackie DeShannon, Peter and Gordon, Ronnie Dove, and Brian Hyland.

The stork must like Benton Harbor and the surrounding communities. Anyway he seems to be hovering about here. Since early Saturday morning, July 22, the old bird has left 17 babies to anxious parents at Mercy Hospital. Ten of them were born Sunday, July 23. Their total weight was 122 pounds, 13 1/2 ounces.

— 30 Years Ago —

Professor William Herman and family of Detroit are moving to 317 Wayne street, St. Joseph. He has accepted the position of teacher of the fourth and fifth grades in the Trinity Lutheran school of this city.

Another Chicago nine will attempt to take the measure of the Twin City Eagles when the Shell Oil gang of Chicago cross bats with the locals at Fitz's park Sunday afternoon.

Being particular means that a man is not too easily satisfied with his accomplishments, says a writer in "The Michigan Mutual Shop Man." The article deals with shop methods, and is illustrated by views taken in the Baker-Vawter plant, Benton Harbor. The Baker-Vawter plant organization is mentioned by the author, who says, "It would be hard to find a better balanced industry than Baker-Vawter company."

— 75 Years Ago —

Within a year from today mariners entering the harbor here will notice a vast change. The Big Four railroad company has commenced driving the piles for a dock in Benton Harbor from the warehouses near the elevator to the Pere Marquette bridge over the St. Joseph river. The dock, which will be completed at a cost of $20,000, will cut off fully 30 acres of the river. This piece of watered land will be filled in by the company and on it will be erected vast warehouses.

The books for the Benton Harbor city library are arriving daily. An Evening News reporter visited the rooms this morning and was surprised at the number of subjects the books cover. The library room proper is furnished with a new reading table, a rolling top desk, a few chairs and a book case. The library will be opened to the public August 1.

A Game Of Trial And Much Error

WASHINGTON — Don't trust the latest predictions on what's next with prices, jobs or the economy generally.

There's no evidence today's forecasts are better than the predictions which preceded the 1974-75 recession.

Government and academic economists have not yet done the research necessary to achieve better measuring sticks. Methods are being changed, but there is little assurance the shifts will make forecasts much more reliable. All that is certain is that some of the new formulas, developed after the current recession was in full swing, would have predicted the sad shape of the economy more quickly and accurately.

But it is relatively easy to build a model which predicts the past precisely. Any economist worth his salt can keep jiggering with his equations and the data he selects until they match last year's curve. That doesn't mean his formulas will work for next year.

Basically, the problem is that economic research is in such a primitive stage that, in the mean, the experts don't know what they're measuring or what the measurements signify.

Economists are basically artists. They use the latest in computers and advanced mathematical techniques. Their equations are marvels to behold. This does not make them scientists. Science consists of precise measurements and the testing of theory against reality. Most economic theories and predictions, on the contrary, are based on assumptions which vary according to the individual philosophy of the economists concerned. Computers and mathematical equations do not correct wrong assumptions or inaccurate data.

A great deal of the available data is kept in one form by some companies, in other forms by others. This lack of uniformity makes it next to impossible to add up results in any meaningful way.

The economists, thus far, are not, after all, certain of what data they want. They're in the process of trying one thing and another, to see what works. This would be relatively easy if they were dealing with one or two firms. But to get clear results would require that the economists be able to tell thousands of companies to change their reporting systems every so often to provide the different bits of data the economists would need for a new round of trial and error. This is obviously impossible if the economy is to keep going.

With the dollar's value, and commodity-product prices, constantly changing, the economists have not found an accurate way to compare one year's data with that of other years. They have not figured out a means for comparing a 1975 product with a 1974 model in meaningful terms.

They do not know how to compare a labor force working at full tilt and one working at lower efficiency because of a cutback in sales, but kept on the job because an employer believes he will need those same men next month or six months hence, and does not want to lose them.

The economists frequently do not differentiate accurately between sales and deliveries in the detail needed, or how to measure stockpiling or inventory building with any degree of correctness, it being all too similar to "adding apples and oranges." Being able to gather this data for one product or another is one thing. Toting it all up to evaluate the state of the economy is another.

Duffy: Pleasure Without Guilt

I am not going to deplore high taxes or the bias of the media, nor am I going to tell you when Ronald Reagan is going to announce for the Presidency. I have for a long time wanted to say something about my favorite painter, Raoul Duffy, and today is the day — for no better reason than that it is a serene Sunday day in the summer of '75, and Duffy is the painter for just such days.

Raoul Duffy's art possesses not a smidgen of social conscience. He paints things like "The Beach at the Casino Marie-Christine, at Sainte-Adresse, 1902," like "Yacht at Le Havre, With All Flags Out, 1904," "Fountain at Venice, 1921," "The Casino at Nice, 1927," "Band Concert at Arles," "Regatta at Cowes, 1930-34," "The Harbor at Deauville," and "Carnival at Nice, 1948."

Duffy is the supreme artist of elegant pleasure. His pictorial world contains no hint of guilt and no tragedy. No victims meet across its threshold. His paintings say, "Why shouldn't I enjoy the incredible blue of the Mediterranean at Nice, and the deep greens of the foliage above it?" The fact that someone is starving in Timbuktoo, or somewhere has nothing to do with that pure chromatic beauty.

There is a remarkable painting by Duffy in the Louis Carre collection in Paris. It is called "Sunday, 1943." It presents delicious symphony of blues, greens, and yellows. A large but delicate bandstand dominates the center of the canvas, and the musicians are playing. People stroll on the grass around the bandstand, chat, read newspapers, loiter on benches. There is a rainbow in the distance. But... "Sunday, 1943." The Nazis occupy half the country. You would not guess it from Duffy's canvas. It represents an enormous act of spiritual and aesthetic freedom.

When you look at a Duffy painting, you think of once of certain other great names

Mozart, Watteau, Claude Lorraine, Keats — all of them great visionary celebrants of the world's beauty. You also think of Nietzsche's dictum that moralism is the signature of weakness.

Duffy was greatly influenced by Matisse's painting, "Lux, calme et volupte" — "Light, calm and voluptuous" — which he first saw at the 1905 Salon des Independents. Matisse's title indeed could be the title of Duffy's entire production as a painter. "You refer to my struggle for color," he wrote to a friend in 1943, "and rightly so, as all my life has gone into that. But should like to be fully understood, and to be quite sure that I am, I should prefer your saying 'my struggle for light,' which is the soul of color. Color without light is lifeless. We perceive light first of all, color afterwards."

Like the terribly crippled poet Alexander Pope, Duffy knew all about the reality of suffering. Duffy's final decade brought him an excruciating arthritis affliction. But just as the crippled poet could write that in ultimate terms "Whatever is, is right," so Duffy's work suggests that pain is transitory, beauty permanent. And this is a point that looks beyond the aesthetic.

Cook Unit Resuming Operation

BRIDGMAN — The Unit 1 reactor of the Donald C. Cook Nuclear Plant, idle since it was shut down July 3 for maintenance and additional testing, was placed back in service Wednesday.

Robert W. Jorgensen, plant manager, said that the 1,100,000 kilowatt unit at the Indiana & Michigan Electric Company facility will resume generating at the maximum 91 per cent of total capability authorized in its license.

Sammie Smith, executive director of the Benton Harbor public housing commission, said renovations began in 1969 in the three projects. He said most interior work has been completed at a cost of $1,262,282, approved earlier by HUD.

Smith said remaining work should be completed by June 1976, at the 100-unit Harbor Towers senior citizens' apartment building, the 94-unit Washington apartment project, and the 78-unit Buss avenue project.

Majority of the work has been at the Washington and Buss units built in the early 1950s. Harbor Towers was built in the late 1960s.

The announcement that HUD had authorized $95,185 to the Benton Harbor housing commission was made by the Washington office of U.S. Rep. Edward Hutchinson.

Smith said financing is all handled by the federal government. He said HUD issues project notes, which are sold to financial institutions. The institutions holding the notes are repaid by federal funds.

Smith said the $95,185 will include installation of a chain link fence around Harbor Towers and its parking lot. Smith said the fence is to direct people into and out of buildings on access walks and to help prevent "pilferage" in parked vehicles. He said there have been numerous incidents of car battery thefts and vandalism to autos.

Other work at Harbor Towers will include improved corridor lighting and interior ventilation and exhaust systems.

Also, a parking lot is to be installed on an already fenced area by the Washington apartment project, Smith said. He said improved exterior night lighting will be installed at both the Washington and Buss avenue projects.

Coloma Gladiolus Festival Parade Route Is Changed

COLOMA — Coloma Gladiolus festival committee last night approved a major change in the festival's Aug. 2 parade route.

The recommended change was submitted by Coloma City Police Chief Kenneth Unruh who has the authority to approve or disapprove parade routes inside the city. The festival is Aug. 1-3.

Under the approved change, the festival parade will begin at Sassafras street, at the far eastern city limits, and head west along Center street to North Church street at Baker park where the parade will turn north, traveling through the downtown Coloma business district. It will disband at Washington and North streets, just north of the business district.

Parade units will line up around Sassafras street and adjacent side streets instead of the Washington and Park street starting point as has been the practice for the past two years.

Unruh's recommendation for altering the former parade route, in use for two years, was based on increased usage of West street for farm product deliveries to a new fruit storage loading dock and industries located along West street, and to permit traffic to travel around the city from both north and south of the Paw Paw bridge and I-94.

He said the change will also allow fire, police and ambulance vehicles a good emergency route as opposed to being re-routed around the city.

Under the new parade route, traffic will be blocked from using Coloma road at Red Arrow highway, starting at 11:30 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 2.

So far 100 parade entries have been received.

The Gladiolus Youth parade route, slated for Friday evening, Aug. 1, has not been changed.

Promotions Are Awarded To Three BH Firemen

Three Benton Harbor firemen have been promoted — two to the rank of lieutenant and the other to the rank of captain, according to Fire Chief Harold Gaddie.

Promoted to captain was former Lt. James Collis, 37. Promoted to lieutenants were former Inspector Eugene Miston, 44, and former Firefighter Al Corzine, 37. The promotions were effective after the retirements of Capt. Roy Hearn and Lt. Kenneth Ives July 18.

Collis joined the department Nov. 13, 1963. He had been lieutenant since Jan. 5, 1971. He and his wife, Mary, have three children between the ages of 9 and 12. The family lives at 133 Park court, Coloma. Collis was in the Navy four years and is a graduate of Watervliet high school.

Miston is a 29-year veteran of the department. He was inspector the past two years. He served four years in the Navy, two of those as a firefighter in Guam during the Korean war. Miston is a graduate of Benton Harbor high school. He and his wife, Lavonda, have three sons between the ages of 15 and 19. The family lives at 1838 South Cherry drive, Stevensville.

Corzine joined the department in 1967. He and his wife, Glenna, have three children between the ages of 4 and 16. He is a graduate of Benton Harbor high school. The Corzines live at 6720 Sunset drive, Coloma.

Six Clubs Too Many? Not For Benton Man

By DICK DERRICK
SJ City Editor

"There are so many organizations that need volunteers, anyone interested in people can find something useful to do without difficulty," says Stanley B. Williams.

Williams has found plenty to do.

The 35-year-old immigrant from Trinidad, via England and Canada, is active in six organizations.

"One of them might call him at anytime of day or night. Williams is a volunteer in Probation (VIP) of Berrien Fifth District court. He counsels young men who have run afoul of the law.

The others take time and energy. Like being a Y-Uncle and going with your "nephew" on a St. Joseph river canoe trip — the first time either of them had been in a canoe.

Then there's baseball — coaching the Benton Harbor Minor league Yankees.

On Saturdays, Williams instructs a 4-H class in woodworking. He's also chairman of the Youth committee of Benton Harbor Kiwanis club, and, for self-improvement, a member of Mainstreet Toastmasters, St. Joseph.

For a livelihood, Williams is a distributor for Anway, a home products sales firm. His wife, Antoinette, is a first grade teacher at Boynton school of the Benton Harbor district. They live at 2688 Empire avenue, Benton township.

Mrs. Williams is the daughter of Mrs. Mary DeFoe, Benton Harbor civic worker. Williams was a pipefitter in his native Trinidad and when he was 18 decided to take up welding. So he went to London, England, and studied at a technical institute.

Five years later found him in Hamilton, Ont., working on construction projects. He then took a job at Cook Nuclear plant near Bridgman. After two years working on the No. 1 reactor, the job ended and Williams turned to Anway full-time.

"There's opportunity in the United States," says Williams, "especially if you like people."

Williams' work with youngsters requires him to keep in shape, so he jogs two miles a day.

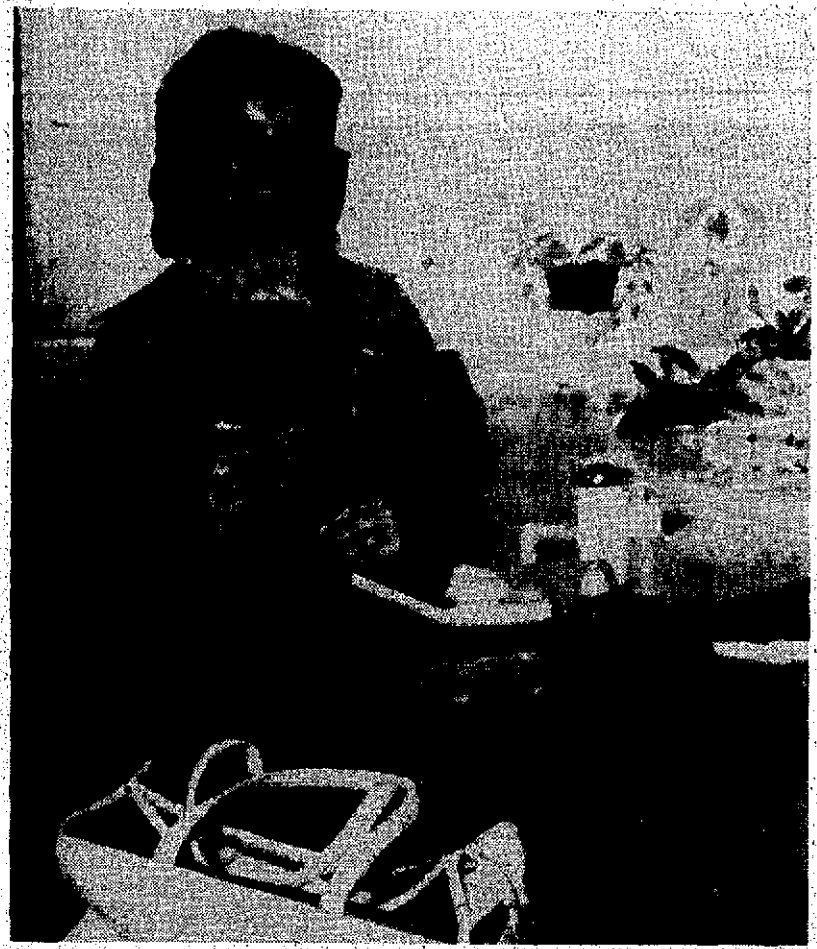

As a baseball coach, he's a converted cricket player. The temptation sometimes arises to call a base a wicket and a pitcher a bowler.

To Live In Africa

By MARYANNE BUTT
Staff Writer

GETTING READY: Patricia Larko Nielsen of St. Joseph packs items she'll be taking with her when she and her husband, Jan, make their home in Abidjan, Ivory Coast, West Africa, in August. The book about Ivory Coast has been her "bible" for past several weeks. (Staff photo)

Patricia Nielsen is looking forward to making her home in Abidjan, Ivory Coast, West Africa — but she's also prepared to be met with some cultural shocks when she arrives.

Patricia and her husband, Jan, will arrive in Abidjan in August. Nielsen has been promoted by Clark Equipment company to district manager of West Africa. He has been with the company since 1973 as international sales development administrator. Except for a short visit home recently, he has been in Europe and Africa for about three months being briefed on his new job and the people with whom he'll be working.

Although Patricia has been reading her "bible" often (a book on Ivory Coast) — and has been briefed by Jan, she expects to be met with a few "surprises" when she arrives and is prepared to face them, for better or for worse.

A native of St. Joseph, Patricia says the farthest she has lived away from home was when she attended Western Kentucky university in Bowling Green. She therefore expects there will be many cultural differences in her new home, and says she'll "learn to fit in." There, she will be an outsider, the different person. But she believes moving to another city on another continent will be, in many ways, little different from moving to a new city in the United States — "it's what you make of it."

Her first project when she arrives in Abidjan will be to take a course in French. Most people in the area are French speaking, and she can't speak a word of the language. Her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Nielsen of Berrien Springs, were missionaries in West Africa, and when Jan was in junior high school, they sent him to a school in France. Consequently, he is fluent in the language. Born and reared in Denmark the first two or three years of his life, Jan is also fluent in Danish.

When Patricia feels she can speak French well enough, she may possibly take a job as nurse at the American Embassy there. She's a recent graduate of the Lake Michigan college registered nursing program, and plans to take her state board examination July 29 and 30.

Another big change Patricia is anticipating is the climate. Her husband says when she first steps off the plane, she'll feel as though she's in a sauna. Until she adapts, he says, she'll feel tired most of the time.

Previously, Patricia thought of Africa as a place with "grass skirts, mud huts and tigers." According to Jan, and from what she has read and studied about the area, that's not the way it is. In fact, Africa doesn't have tigers. When they first arrive, they'll be staying in a modern high-rise luxury hotel — similar to any new such structure in this country.

Her husband has selected three houses between which Patricia will make the final selection when they arrive. They will also have a "house-boy" to help with chores — most of the residents of Abidjan do, she says — and that's one luxury she doesn't have in the United States.

Another obstacle Patricia will face will be in the kitchen. Before drinking, water has to be boiled and filtered. Vegetables, too, have to be disinfected.

Mr. and Mrs. Nielsen, Patricia's father and mother-in-law, have also been helpful in briefing her on what to expect. Not only did the couple serve as missionaries in West Africa, but Mrs. Nielsen recently received her master's degree from Michigan State university in African textiles.

Patricia will leave July 31 for Copenhagen, where she will meet Jan, and visit with his relatives there. They will then go to Germany for a week, before going to Abidjan.

She and her husband are looking forward to making their home in Africa. There's only one thing that has made Patricia just a little apprehensive — bugs. Her parents-in-law have described some of these West African creatures to her, and she's not looking forward to her first face-to-face meeting with one.

A graduate of St. Joseph Catholic high school, Patricia was Miss St. Joseph of 1969. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Larko, St. Joseph.

Her husband is a graduate of Andrews University Academy and Andrews university.

Repertory Presents Challenge

HOLLAND — Coordinating the staging of a repertory theatre presents particular problems because the set units must be changed each day for a different performance.

The Hope Summer Repertory Theatre will be presenting three different productions during its season this year.

From Aug. 1 through Sept. 8, the productions will alter nights Monday through Saturday. "Oklahoma" and "The Miser" are presently being presented in the DeWitt Cultural Center on the campus of Hope college and will be joined by "Saint Joan" Aug. 1.

The properties-set decoration designer for the current season is Brad Williams who is with the company for the fourth year. He is also a puppeteer.

Williams' job entails designing set units to change and alter the appearance of the permanent set so it suits each play being performed.

A major consideration is the mobility of each unit, Williams says. "They have to be able to be taken on and off stage quickly. Every night after a performance we convert the stage into the next show and its particular design."

Williams' experience and education is varied and extensive. A Hope college graduate in art, his interests always have pulled him to the theatre. While a student he did mostly acting and technical work. After graduation he went to New York as an assistant designer at Henry Street theatre.

In 1971, he came into contact with Burr Tillstrom, creator of the Kukliah, Fran and Ollie show. Williams became an assistant for Tillstrom when a retrospective show was put together, recounting the years of the Kuklapolitan Players. This show, a part of the Hope Summer Theatre's 1973 season, traveled to the National Puppetry Festival and later to Chicago and the Goodman theatre.

More recently Williams has been a puppeteer with Don Battjes in Grand Rapids, designing and constructing puppets. Now his own creations and show, The Punch and Judy Show, can be seen occasionally at the Saugatuck Flea Market on upon demand. His puppetry skills are also exhibited during intermission of the nightly Hope productions.

In the fall, he intends to attend the University of Connecticut to work on a master of fine arts degree in puppetry.

THE NEW MATURE WOMAN

She's Exploring New Lifestyles

Fourth in a Series
By LYNNE ABRAHAM

"Lifestyle," according to Webster, is "an individual's typical way of life." But there is nothing "typical" about the way today's middle-aged woman lives, works or loves.

For married women, who make up about two-thirds of this group, the years after their children have grown and left home can be happy ones. "The time of the empty nest turns out to be a time of fulfillment," according to a University of Michigan research team.

With home responsibilities lessened, a married woman is likely to get more involved in her community as a volunteer or to take a job. Her earnings add to the couple's retirement security and sometimes permit long-postponed leisure activities. Many older marrieds are returning to school, some finding, as one 54-year-old did, that education can revitalize a marriage. "I'm happy and my husband's happy. We're both growing."

But the very ingredient that will bind one marriage can tear another apart. More couples than ever before are "celebrating" their 20th anniversary in a divorce court, and not simply because they chose to ignore deep-seated marital problems until their children were grown. Dr. Alfred Messer, an authority on the "20-year split," blames the current high divorce rate among the middle-aged on growing demands for personal fulfillment.

This new attitude was dramatically stated by Angelina Alito, estranged wife of the mayor of San Francisco: "I have been my parent's daughter, the wife of my husband, the mother of my six children and grandmother to my 11 grandchildren. But I have never been me."

Even among women who maintain conservative beliefs about the importance of home and family, the combined impact of the women's movement and inflation is undeniable. Nancy Selzer, writing in "Absent from the Majority — Working Class Women in America," notes that when traditionally housebound wives of blue-collar workers take jobs to bring in needed money, they risk upsetting their marriages. "As wives gain independence, many husbands grow unsure of their roles, and marriages begin to founder."

Whether divorced, widowed or never-married, one out of three middle-aged women is without a spouse. For many, the single life is a good one. By the time she reaches 40, a never-married woman usually has a permanent home, belongings she cherishes, and friends she can count on. Even widows and divorcees, once they adjust to life as a strong single instead of half-a-couple, value the freedom they've gained. Said one woman participant in a woman-alone workshop, "I can eat when I'm hungry, and watch TV until I am. If that's what I want."

Some women cut costs by taking roommates, or living alone but sharing meals and other expenses. A few experiment with communal living arrangements. However, most older single women live alone. Those now supporting themselves for the first time are often pleased at how resourceful and self-reliant they can become. With money, the single life can be lively indeed. But many women without partners — especially those with children — are caught in a financial squeeze. There has been a dramatic increase in the number of families headed by women.

"The latest fad among consenting adults is marriage!" one wag has remarked. Today we see mature women opting for less traditional unions — with younger men, for instance, or with husbands whose careers do not intrude on their own.

Once she's tasted the independent single life, a divorcee or widow may be reluctant to leap into remarriage. But the older woman is by no means out of the marriage market. In fact, there's a new breed of female fatale, according to Harper's Bazaar writer Helen Van Slyke. "The middle-aged misfit has

Win PWP Awards

INTERNATIONAL COMPETITION: Twin cities Chapter No. 151, Parents Without Partners, Inc., were awarded first place in the community service award competition among all PWP chapters. Chapter 151, Parents Without Partners, Inc., have returned home from the Washington, D.C., international convention with first place community service award earned in competition with the organization's nearly 800 chapters.

It also captured first place in chapter program in competition with other chapters with less than 100 members.

In addition four children of members received five first place awards in the 1975 international children's exhibit competition.

The community service award was earned through Chapter 151's sponsoring of personal growth group sessions for the divorced or widowed conducted by Ralph Datema, counselor at Samaritan center during January and February of this year.

The sessions were held at the Benton Harbor Holiday Inn and included topics ranging from "Learn To Have A Good Time?" to "A Theory Of Personal Motivation" to "Putting It All Together."

Winners in the children's exhibits included Nancy Hubbard, first place, C classification, collage and decoupage assemblage, art division; Marie Orth, first place, B classification, sculpture, art division; Konrad Schultz, C classification, science, crafts division, and Kimberley Schulta, first place, C classification, black and white photography, and first place, C classification, leadership.

Delegates to the convention included Don Pylman, president of Chapter 151, Mrs.

Dee Hubbard, divisional manager for PWP children's exhibits; Mrs. Dorothy Gilbert, international vice president for research and education; Mrs. Georgia Heinke; Mrs. Betty Gelesko, and Robert Hartline.

At the international convention July 9-13, a joint service project of PWP International and The National Foundation — March of Dimes, was announced. The program will be aimed at improving communications between teenagers and parents, and, in particular, encouraging pregnant girls to secure pre-natal care.

Sen. Walter F. Mondale (D-Minn.) received the International PWP award for distinguished service to children for his impressive record of achievement as chairman of the Senate subcommittee on children and youth.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Getting On Knee Doesn't Hurt

Dear Ann Landers: I am happily married and have been for 15 years. I believe in equality for women; I'm on my own boss and I do as I please.

My husband and I disagree a lot, but we seldom fight. I sometimes worry that our marriage is too happy and something unexpected will happen to spoil it. I believe we owe our marital success to the fact that we respect each other's opinions, needs and desires.

My reason for writing is to comment on the newlywed whose husband refused to cut his toenails. She signed her letter, "Bleeding Ankles." You suggested that she give him a pedicure.

Your answer elevated my blood pressure at least 50 points! The thought of a woman down on her knees cutting a man's toenails (which he was obviously too lazy to do) sparked rebellion in me.

I suggest she tell him to sleep by himself until he cuts his own toenails. Honey may catch more flies than vinegar, Ann, but absence makes the heart grow fonder — especially for newlyweds. — Happily Married Libber

Dear Lib: To get down on one's knees can be a very good thing — whether to pray, scrub a floor or cut a husband's toenails.

When you stand, you are a little taller for the experience.

Don't Change

Dear Ann Landers: What do you think of a father who sits like a bump on a log and pretends he is deaf when you are reprimanding one of the children?

In our family, I have always done the reprimanding because my husband worked nights while they were growing up and was never around when "things happened." I feel I've done a good job. No child of ours has ever been in trouble or become involved with drugs.

there, Mom, and keep on doing what you're doing. Be thankful you are equal to the challenge. Some mothers with "uninvolved" husbands can't huck it and their kids are plenty messed up.

Accept Fast

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I love company. We invite two couples to our home for dinner almost every other week. Usually it's the six of us, sometimes it's just four. I'm a gourmet cook and enjoy putting together a fine meal.

They never invite us back. This has been going on for well over five months. When they leave, the women rave about my cooking and say, "You MUST come to our house next time." Then they add, "Of course, I can't cook like you..."

What should I do, Ann? I'm beginning to feel like a chump.

— Suzette Crepe

Dear Sue: The next time you get that song and dance say, "I accept your invitation. I'll phone you tomorrow and we'll pick a date. It's time we ate at YOUR house. I don't care WHAT YOU SERVE."

Don't flunk your chemistry test. Love is more than one set of glands calling to another. If you have trouble making a distinction you need Ann's booklet, "Love or Sex and How To Tell the Difference." Send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request and 50 cents in coin to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

FOR FRIDAY
JULY 25, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Don't expect too much from things you plan for today. Your greatest joy comes from an unexpected encounter with a friend.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Time spent brooding over real or imagined problems will be wasted. Immersing yourself in work could pay big dividends.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Avoid putting yourself in a position where friends take advantage of you. On your own, you're lucky.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
You'll look outside the family for enjoyment today, but you'll soon learn that the best bet for you is where the heart is.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Engage in necessary activity and get good and tired today. Too much idle time will depress you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
If you want something kept confidential, don't tell even a friend. You'll be to blame if a distorted version came back later.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
Your traditional balance is so overly accurate today you'll waste time jousting with windmills. Forget it. Have a good time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Inherently you're an intense person. Today that trait is so magnified you could forsake striving for minor enjoyments.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
Avoid gambling with romance or dollars today. Your hunches are poor. You'll turn up a loser.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Your ideas will get a cool reception from the family today. Be prepared for an argument or go out with pals.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
It's a day when what you think you want, you won't, and what you have, you won't be happy with.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
Save yourself a pile of money. Lock up your pocketbook. Frivolous desires could cost you dearly.

Brevity

GLENN — Mr. and Mrs. Gary Alwes, 562 Deere Park Circle, Bartlett, Ill., announce the birth of a son, Denver, July 16. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Reuel Tillman of Glenn. Mrs. Maria Manthey of Glenn is the great-grandmother.

Your Birthday

July 25, 1975

You'll have to be on your toes to recognize opportunities that will come your way this year. They could emanate from unexpected sources.

Hope 'Village Square' Set

HOLLAND — The 18th annual Hope college Village Square will be held Friday, Aug. 1, by the Hope College Women's League.

Women from Illinois, Indiana and many parts of Michigan will bring handmade articles to sell on the Hope college campus. Booths will be open from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

In addition to the booths, there will be an art show in the second floor gallery of the DeWitt Cultural Center. This show will continue for two weeks before curtain time and during intermission of the Hope summer theatre.

Children's entertainment will include the Williams Punch and Judy show and the children's drama, "Hip Van Winkle."

Refreshments will be available all day.

Those attending will also be able to tour the President's home.

A public auction is planned at 6 p.m.

The day's activities will conclude with the theatre production of "Saint Joan" at 8:30 p.m. in the DeWitt Cultural Center.

Bicentennial Theatre Season At WSU

DETROIT — A Bicentennial season of six American plays has been announced by Wayne State university for 1975-76 at the Bonstelle Theatre, Woodward Avenue, Detroit.

The subjects come from American legend, history, and show business and are treated in a variety of ways — realistic, poetic, epic and musical — all by American authors.

Opening the season Oct. 17 will be "The Amen Corner," by James Baldwin, a drama of ghetto life.

Other productions scheduled are the musical comedy, "George M," about the life of George M. Cohan, opening Nov. 28; "Inherit the Wind," by Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee, based on the 1925 Scopes "monkey" trial, opening Jan. 23; "The Rainmaker," by N. Richard Nash, a romantic comedy, opening Feb. 27; "The Great White Hope," by Howard Sackler, which is based on the tragic fate of the first black heavyweight champion of the world Jack Johnson, opening April 23; and "Dark of the Moon," by Howard Richardson and William Berner, a dramatization of the Smoky Mountain legend of Barbara Allen, opening May 28.

Dr. Lester Coleman

The time has come again to warn readers about the joy and the hazards of sunbathing. I am always amazed by the number of letters from readers who describe their ghastly experience with a severe sunburn that "ruined my holiday."

Despite repeated warnings by doctors and health officials there are people who continue to overexpose themselves to sunlight on the first day of a holiday.

When the sunlight is intense it takes only a few minutes to launch the tanning process.

From then on, gradual increases in the time of exposure each day give one a satisfactory tan without the needless pain of a severe burn.

It is often forgotten that sun reflected off the sea and sand, even on mildly cloudy day, may penetrate the skin and burn it.

Protective creams and lotions serve an important function. Many people, however, develop a false sense of security that these products will protect them from all degrees of intense sunlight. Consequently, they chance getting a severe burn while getting a rapid tan.

Sensible tanning takes patience.

For cosmetic reasons, many women today are avoiding the sun completely. It is thought that constant exposure dries the skin and produces premature wrinkles.

An additional thought about safety must be mentioned. People who tend to develop crusting or ulceration of the skin should plan their sunning with their doctor's direction.

The relationship between constant penetrating sunburns and superficial cancer of the skin, especially in fair-skinned people, is given a great deal of credence these days. Again, this is a matter for individual consultation with the doctor.

Are there any special ways of preventing infections of the bladder? My daughter, aged 10, is a constant sufferer.

Mrs. T.T.M. Fla.

Dear Mrs. M.: Bladder infection, or cystitis, is a common problem in children and adults, especially in girls and women.

Repeated infections may be attributed to poor genital hygiene. If the area is not properly cleansed, bacteria from the rectal and vaginal area can be introduced into the bladder.

Infections of the kidney may also be responsible for repeated cystitis. A thorough examination of the genito-urinary tract, with cultures and X-rays, is essential.

DR. LESTER COLEMAN has prepared a special booklet entitled "Alcoholism — A Family Disease." It probes this grave problem and offers hopeful advice. For your copy, send 25 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lester L. Coleman, M.D. (Alcoholism booklet), P.O. Box 5178, Grand Central Station, New York City 10017. Please mention the booklet by title.

PSC Accused Of Using Industry Data

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Public Service Commission relied on industry data in compiling two studies and did not have enough staff to verify the accuracy of the information, a PSC staffer says.

Robert Benko also said Wednesday that the regulatory agency paid more than $800,000 for five consulting reports in two years.

In testimony before a House committee investigating the PSC, he said former Federal Power Commission chairman Lee White was hired for $8,500 to develop a pet proposal of PSC chairman William Rosenberg.

PSC staffers defended the consulting reports and said the utility companies were the only available source for much of the information in the two staff studies.

Benko, director of planning and economic research, revealed his staff did not check the validity of figures in two PSC staff studies — one on the impact of curtailments of power plant construction and the other on demands for electricity in Michigan.

Both reports focused on Detroit Edison Co. and Consumers Power Co.

"Most of the information came from the companies," said Benko. "We did not make an attempt to verify it. Why would they give us inaccurate information?"

Benko said his staff is small and verification is seldom possible.

Asked later about using utility statistics, William Whitbeck, the PSC's director of policy, replied, "There is no other place to obtain data on energy needs. Where else are you going to go?"

A third PSC study predicted unemployment in Michigan would hit 17 per cent late in the decade if utilities were unable to raise sufficient capital to expand. Detroit Edison later cited the study in a public relations campaign for a rate increase.

The reports were never used by utilities as exhibits in rate cases, PSC officials emphasized the reports carry a written disclaimer saying they do not represent the policy of the commission.

"Allegations that our reports are the basis for rate increases are not true," Whitbeck said. "The language in the reports states they are not the policy of the commission. It's written in plain English for any fifth grader to read."

One outside report authorized by the PSC involved hiring White to convert one of Rosenberg's ideas into proposed federal legislation.

Rosenberg's idea, which received national publicity, was for the federal government to guarantee utility bonds in order to lower skyrocketing interest rates. Rosenberg requested an expert be hired to translate the concept into proposed federal legislation.

The former Federal Power Commission chairman was hired and performed a six-week study in March and April, Benko testified, billing the state for $8,500.

Rosenberg was instrumental in getting the legislature to appropriate the money for outside studies in 1973.

One of them, for $385,000, was a study of PSC operations and has been characterized by commissioner William Ralls, a Democrat, as "a waste of taxpayers' money."

Milliken And Crim Disagree On Bill

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken regards pending legislation legalizing school strikes as too easy on striking teachers, but House Speaker Bobby Crim says the same bill may be too tough.

"It's pro-management in comparison to what was sent over from the House," Crim declared Wednesday.

Crim said the Senate got tough with teachers by inserting an amendment which declares irreparable harm is done when a 170-day school year is jeopardized by a strike.

In Crim's view, that language is so tough it would lead judges across the state to issue strike-stopping injunctions after a two-week walkout.

Crim said he has not yet made up his mind whether he will oppose the bill, but Milliken has already said he expects to veto it if it remains unchanged. As it stands now, strikes would be allowed for four weeks, with economic penalties coming after the first two weeks. As originally passed by the House, strikes of five weeks would have been allowed.

A House Democratic caucus on the bill was expected sometime today or Friday.

Milliken has urged lawmakers to impose financial penalties on striking teachers as early as possible. The Senate bill would let teachers strike for almost two weeks without losing pay, Milliken aides said.

Milliken Visits Saginaw Dinner

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken planned to attend a "non-political" Republican party barbecue today near Saginaw, party officials said.

More than 900 persons were expected to attend, and GOP officials say the $10 charge is only to cover costs and not to raise funds.

"You encourage strikes by that kind of approach," said Milliken. "I think this is a bill I will be unable to accept ... If it does what I think it does I will veto it."

House Minority Leader Dennis Cawthorne, R-Manistee, said Crim may be trying to "lure some Republican votes" by suggesting the bill is pro-management compared with the House version.

Crim characterized it as a "limited right to strike bill" several weeks ago. Now he is describing it as a "very, very limited right to strike bill."

"As long as people understand that there has been a change," explained Crim, "You can pay your time and take your choice."

Business Tax Faces Uphill Fight

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken's business tax revision would not pass in the Senate if the vote were taken now, legislative leaders said Wednesday.

Both Republican and Democratic leaders reported only a handful of votes for the "single business tax." In addition, no legislator has stepped forward to lead the fight for passage.

The measure would replace eight business taxes with a single levy on profits, payroll, interest and depreciation. It is intended to encourage expansion, simplify tax payments and stabilize revenues from year to year.

Some Senate leaders say the bill has made it this far only because it promises to bring in a one-time only windfall of $180 million this fiscal year — a key to balancing the budget.

"I don't think we have 20 votes for passage," said Daniel Cooper, the Democratic Floor Leader from Oak Park.

Republicans reported only three to five votes for the bill in their 14-member caucus.

"There is no support for the bill" among business, one said.

Lawmakers are under pressure from businesses which would be hurt by the new system. Democrats say they don't want to shoulder the burden of passing Milliken's bill.

"If the Republicans can't deliver nine or 10 votes for that bill, it's dead," said Majority Leader William Fitzgerald, D-Detroit. "If they can't get the support of business, it's in real trouble."

Senate Approves EPA Exemptions

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill to exempt iron and copper mining industries from the state's Environmental Protection Act has won approval in the Michigan Senate.

On a Wednesday vote of 22-11, the bill went to the House, where it is to be referred to a committee, which already has killed a similar but more sweeping measure.

In addition, the bill has the opposition of Gov. William Milliken. Spokesmen for the governor said a veto is likely if the measure passes the House.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. Joseph Mack, D-Ironwood, would bar lawsuits on ecological grounds if a mining project had filed a required environmental impact statement and received necessary permits from the state.

Currently, lawsuits challenging developments can be filed at any time, even after the projects are under way.

"This bill does not destroy any environment," said Mack, who argued it would speed projects and promote jobs. "This is one of the most important bills that ever affected the Upper Peninsula."

Opponents of the bill argue the act is not hindering job development and say the measure would be of little advantage to the U.P.'s economy.

"I'm reluctant to delete the statutory right to sue if nothing (such as jobs) is to be gained," said Sen. John Otterbacher, D-Grand Rapids. "It also opens Michigan to strip mining without reclamation."

The bill also would exempt power plants which supply energy for metal mining operations, as well as receiving and shipping facilities which service the mines.

The latter provision was intended to exempt from lawsuits a controversial coal dock which has been approved by the state for construction in Marquette. The dock will handle coal to power the area's mining industry.

But spokesmen for the Lake Superior and Ishpeming Railroad, builders of the dock, say most of the court suits were filed before the state permits were granted. Thus, they contend, the Mack bill would not hasten the dock's construction.

Mack and State Rep. Dominic Jacobetti, D-Negaunee, also have sponsored a bill which would bar environmental lawsuits against any project — not just mines — once the necessary state permits were granted. Drafted by U.P. mining interests, that bill has all but died in the House Conservation, Environment and Recreation Committee.

Committee Chairman Thomas Anderson, D-Southgate, opposes both bills. Many lawmakers say they do not expect the Mack bill to win passage in the House.

Environmentalists contend the measures would gut the 1970 environmental act, which permits lawsuits against developments that may jeopardize the ecology.

Mack and Jacobetti argue the continual threat of lawsuits hinders the acquisition of financing and slows industrial development.

Nader: Ford Can End Lid Crunch

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer advocate Ralph Nader says a little attention from President Ford would encourage manufacturers to turn out canning jar lids to ease the shortage plaguing many of the nation's estimated 20 million home canners.

"All that is needed to increase manufacturers' interest in expanding jar lid production is to just have President Ford go on television and say this is a crisis, we can't let this food rot," according to Nader.

He said another effective strategy would be to permit more imports of jar lids from Japan, which he said has expressed an interest in the business.

Nader's suggestions were made in testimony before a House commodities and services subcommittee which has been looking into the causes of the shortage.

The Federal Trade Commission also is investigating the shortage.

The probe will center on the four regions in which the shortage is most severe — the Pacific Northwest, the Midwest, the Southeast and the East Coast, according to Robert F. Liedquist, acting director of the FTC's Bureau of Competition.

Liedquist said it is possible that the current shortage of canning lids could be caused by anticompetitive activity unlike the scarcity in 1974 which was caused by a lack of materials. Any such anticompetitive activity would be designed to encourage consumers to purchase more expensive sets of jars, lids and rings, or it could lead to higher prices later for lids.

JOAN LITTLE JURY: The 12-member Joan Little jury that was completed Wednesday walks from the courthouse to the motel in Raleigh, N.C., where they are sequestered after Wednesday's court session. ## Jury Selected For Little Trial

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Testimony in the Joan Little murder trial is expected to begin early next week and could continue three to four weeks.

A jury of seven whites and five blacks was sealed Wednesday. Eight of the 12 are women.

Four alternates must be selected and several defense motions dealt with before testimony can begin. Defense attorney Marvin Miller said it was possible the selection of alternates could be completed today and motions handled Friday.

He said testimony was expected to begin Monday or Tuesday. There will be no opening arguments.

The defense expressed satisfaction with the jury that will try the 21-year-old black woman and withdrew a motion challenging the composition of the Wake County jury list. The defense had contended that the list did not contain a fair representation of blacks, women and poor people.

"We are closer to a perfect jury than we expected to be," Miller explained.

The main defense motions to be heard are two on suppression of some of the state's evidence, including Miss Little's health records and personal property taken from her cell in the Beaufort County jail.

The defense is asking suppression of the evidence on the grounds that it was taken improperly.

Another defense motion asks that the charges against Miss Little be dropped because she passed a polygraph test that showed her version of the slaying was truthful. Her attorneys claim that Dist. Atty. William Griffin had agreed to drop the charges if Miss Little passed the lie detector test.

The state contends Miss Little killed the guard in an escape from the jail. She says she stabbed Allgood in self-defense during a rape attempt.

Eight of the selected jurors are women, four are men.

The eight women include a 46-year-old white farmer's wife, two white women in their 20s who work in the same restaurant, a 25-year-old prison counselor, a 40-year-old black machinist, a 66-year-old black tobacco factory worker, a 49-year-old black housewife and a 32-year-old white grocer's wife.

The four men include a 57-year-old black school janitor, a 25-year-old white lawyer, a 64-year-old retired black delivery man and a 26-year-old white man who owns an audio equipment store.

House Passes Tax Foreclosure Bill

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan House has passed a bill to protect delinquent property taxpayers by notifying owners of impending foreclosure proceedings.

The measure was approved 94-8 Wednesday and sent to the Senate.

It would require county treasurers, at least 75 days prior to court proceedings, to notify owners delinquent in property tax payments.

The measure, however, would shorten the period in which delinquent taxpayers must pay up or lose their property.

The House also approved a measure requiring county road commissions to have their books audited annually, or once every two years in the case of less populous counties.

Scars Of Detroit Riots Remain After Eight Years

DETROIT (AP) — Eight years ago this week, Detroit was the scene of one of the costliest urban riots in American history; 43 people died and property damage hit more than $200 million.

Today, only the scars — burned out buildings, debris and lots as empty as the promises to rebuild — remain.

"I don't see no rebuilding going on, not around here," says 15-year-old Jesse Coxton, a retired Ford Motor Co. employee who lives in the Twelfth Street area, where the riots began.

"The reconstruction has been slow," says Horace Johnson, who has been delivering mail in the area for 25 years. "They tore down a lot of buildings that were good and should not have been torn down. There's been a terrible waste out here."

Johnson believes the 1967 riot triggered an exodus from the area. "After the riot, I had a lot of changes of address along my route," he says. "People moved out of the neighborhood and to the northwest."

Others defied the exodus, like Robert Kennedy, 51, who moved into the area shortly after the riot. "I figured it was a good opportunity," Kennedy says.

"I moved right after the riot, in 1968. I knew everybody was moving out and I figured there'd be some rebuilding. Moving out is no answer to Detroit's problems. Moving out doesn't solve anything."

"What's going to solve our problems is the way people treat one another."

Others have stayed on to fight. "Our congregation is working to strengthen the morale of the neighborhood," says Clifton Griffith, senior warden of the Grace Episcopal Church.

"When the riot came they were depressed and disgusted; there was a feeling that the neighborhood was sinking. The stigma of Twelfth Street is still there, but the people are determined to live down that stigma."

Griffith sees some "tragic good" rising from the 1967 ashes. "Twelfth Street is no longer a street for unsavory characters," he noted. "They don't come around any more because there's no place left to hang out. Those places were all burned down."

However, Kennedy believes it could all happen again.

"People still feel inadequate, unable to fight back through legal channels. People don't think the laws help the little man," he said.

"And our kids don't get the education and the incentives they really should get. Consequently, they strike back."

"So I guess there could be another riot. But the same thing could happen with any ethnic group that has to live with such adverse conditions."

CIA CRITIC TESTIFIES Church Units Infiltrated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The CIA regularly infiltrated church groups and missionaries working abroad and once had a South Vietnamese Catholic bishop on its payroll, a former State Department intelligence specialist says.

The bishop, who headed a diocese outside of Saigon, was on the agency's payroll as recently as 1971 and a CIA "case officer" would fly in from Saigon for secret meetings with him, according to John Marks, the former State Department specialist.

Marks is director of a research project for the Center for National Security Studies, a private group frequently critical of the CIA.

In a study of the agency's relationships with church groups, Marks says: "Congressional and executive pressure has forced the CIA to maintain a hands-off stance toward a few groups like Peace Corps volunteers and Fulbright scholars, but religious organizations have never been treated by the agency with such deference."

A spokesman for the Senate panel probing the CIA said the committee is looking into the CIA's relationships with missionaries.

Marks' study says an unidentified Protestant missionary in Bolivia made regular intelligence reports to the CIA

"as a patriotic duty and not for pay." The missionary was said to be "knowledgeable about the Communist party and had all sorts of information about unions and farmers' cooperatives."

Marks said another Protestant missionary in Bolivia periodically passed on names of Bolivians he thought were Communists to U.S. embassy officials, whom he assumed were with the CIA.

Marks' study also said a Belgian Jesuit, the Rev. Roger Vekemans, received $5 million from the CIA in 1963 to help get Eduardo Frei elected president of Chile and to provide money for democratic labor leaders in Latin America.

A Jesuit friend of Father Vekemans confirmed that episode Wednesday in interviews with reporters but said he had no reason to believe the CIA had asked Father Vekemans to do anything he would not have ordinarily done for the church's social development projects.

The agency also supplied money for some foreign religious programs "used to manipulate events in other countries or to push a political line, cognate to the CIA," Marks said.

The CIA funded a church-run educational operation in Colombia, Marks said. Quoting a retired CIA official, Marks said most of that money supported a nationwide network of radio broadcasts designed to combat illiteracy among Colombian peasants and that the broadcasts "also contained a political message."

"Our input was money and anti-Communist propaganda," the retired CIA official was quoted as saying. "There was nothing real nasty."

Crim Aide Says Ticket Deal Is Legal

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — If you can't get tickets for the Michigan State-Ole Miss football game Sept. 13, just see Speaker of the House Bobby Crim.

For $100, he'll sell you a ticket and a champagne brunch. Also a roundtrip bus ride from a Lansing restaurant to the game, a program, a stadium cushion, evening cocktails, a gourmet dinner of prime rib or lemon sole, Lorenzo and a dance band.

The fund-raiser is not "ticket scalping" because the $100 includes dinner, dancing, drinks and a drive to the game, Walt Sorg, a Crim aide, said Wednesday.

Crim, D-Davison, holds two degrees from MSU's arch-rival, the University of Michigan. Crim expects to clear about $17,053 for a fund raiser on 310 MSU-OSU game tickets he bought for $7 each on May 6, said Sorg. That works out to a $55-a-ticket profit.

"We've received a few phone calls" from people who can't get tickets to the sellout game, complaining about Crim's buy-up, Sorg acknowledged. "We did everything properly. We got tickets and other people didn't because we asked early," Sorg said.

About 240 Crim-MSU-OSU tickets have been mailed out but there are still some available, Sorg said.

Crim paid $2,170 for the tickets early in May, long before the sale cutoff, said Kurt Hanes, Crim's press secretary. It was not until June 3 that MSU cut off single ticket sales for both the Ohio State and University of Michigan games because the volume of requests ballooned, ticket officials say.

Officials say they wanted to assure enough seats were left for season ticket holders. The usual priorities for distributing tickets indicate Crim's fund-raiser would fall far down the line, in the category of persons from the general public with no MSU affiliation.

First in line for ticket preference, MSU officials say, are students, faculty and staff. Second are season ticket holders, based on the number of years they've had tickets in the past. Third are dues-paying members of alumni associations. And fourth are non-dues paying alumni.

BOBBY CRIM
House Speaker

MSU officials say Crim bought the tickets when no one realized the ticket crush would develop.

In past years MSU-OSU wasn't considered a big game because Ohio State consistently crushed the Spartans. Last year, however, MSU upset the Big Ten co-champs by three points. Rumors that Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes spurred an NCAA investigation into alleged MSU football recruiting violations also is credited with peaking interest in the game.

"We were quite free with our tickets for the Ohio State game," admits William Beardsley, MSU assistant athletic director. "We didn't think it'd be a sellout. Then the NCAA thing happened and that helped contribute to advanced sales."

As of last Monday, MSU officials said there still were about 1,000 season tickets left.

Stars To Guess Ex-BH Woman's 'Line'

By STEVE SAGER
Staff Writer

Two Cities area friends and relatives of Mrs. Shirley J.

(Crider) Schulz, Flint, will have a chance to see her Monday, July 28, when she appears on the "What's My Line?"

television game show.

Mrs. Schulz, who with her husband, Frank, and two children moved to the Flint area in 1965, qualified for the program with her unique occupation as a "bondslady" (female bull bondman.)

Mrs. Schulz said the show will appear at 7 p.m. on WKZZ-TV channel 3, Kalamazoo.

"What's My Line?" has been a fixture among television game shows for many years. The object is for a panel of celebrities to guess the occupations of people who appear as guests.

Mrs. Schulz is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Shook, of 302 Summit street, Benton Harbor. Shook has been a city fireman for more than 20 years. Her grandmother, Mrs. Zora Bailey, resides at 388 Summit street, and a brother, Vernon Crider, lives at 4725 Beachnut drive, St. Joseph.

In an article in the Flint Journal last year Mrs. Schulz was reported to be Flint's first bondswoman.

In a letter to The Herald-Palladium this week, Mrs. Schulz said:

"I actually began posting bonds the end of January, 1974, and am still in business. I enjoy it very much and have learned that there are one or two other professional bondswomen in the same business; however, I don't know if they are licensed ... and if they post bonds as their sole means of making a living, as I do fulltime."

According to the Flint Journal article, Mrs. Schulz said her husband encouraged her to apply to get on the television show.

MRS. SHIRLEY SCHULZ
Bull Bondswoman

It was taped July 11, 1974, in New York City.

For those who miss the show Monday it will appear again as a rerun on Dec. 2, 1975.

Mrs. Schulz wrote, "By the way the panel on 'What's My Line?' did not guess my line."

Rape Victim Says Attackers Kidnaped Her From Residence

A 28-year-old rape victim said she was abducted Tuesday night by two men who entered her home instead of picking her up on the street as reported yesterday.

Benton township police said the victim told them she accepted a ride with two men who were driven around, raped then taken home.

The woman told this newspaper Wednesday afternoon two men entered the back door of her home about 10:30 Tuesday night, then forced out of the house and into a car. She said they threatened to kill her and raped her.

The men later took her home and left about 2:30 a.m. Wednesday, taking a pistol, rifle and shotgun from the house, according to the woman. She said her children also were threatened by the men.

The police report said at the time the woman was too shaken to give many details of the incident.

Lt. Ray Frye said police intend to question the woman again.

Repenting Minister Makes First Payment On 14-Year-Old Theft

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — The Rev. W. C. Hunter has begun restitution to ease an aching conscience.

Hunter, pastor of the World's Church of the Living God here, said that he stole $3,000 from a food store 14 years ago while "obsessed with gambling and wild ways."

"Unbelievable," said Don Blevins, store manager, when Hunter went to the store and made a $50 payment this week to repay the theft.

"Now I can feel truly free," the minister said. "I can look my people in the eyes and tell them that I have sinned, but I have sought and received forgiveness from God and man."

The pastor said he expected to be arrested when he owned up to the theft. But flabbergasted police told him after consulting the district attorney that he would remain free because the statute of limitations had long since run out on the crime.

Hunter said that when he was 25 he was so obsessed with gambling that he often sold his family's food and furniture — his three children were then young — to get money for card games and whiskey.

He recalled that he worked at the store as a clerk and that one evening a lock on the safe broke and the late manager hid the day's receipts in a produce bin. He said he hid in a storage area until other employees had left and then took the money.

"Man, I felt good with that big sack of money," he recalled. "I bought a half a pint of gin, went to a pool hall to celebrate and afterwards went home ... and I rolled the money up bill by bill and 'stuck them in Christmas balls."

"That was more money than I had ever seen in my life. Everytime I ran low on money for whiskey or gambling, I would just run home and break some of them."

In about one month the money was gone, he said. "I threw it away on the gambling tables and in the alleys."

The metamorphosis of W. C. Hunter, scoundrel, into W. C. Hunter, reverend, began about 10 years ago when he returned from a 73-hour gambling binge to a home devoid of furniture.

"I had been out drinking and gambling and the first thing I saw when I walked in the door was my kids sitting on the cold floor, wrapped in coats to keep warm," he said.

"My wife was sitting there in front of the fireplace throwing old shoes into the fire to keep the kids warm. I can still smell that leather burning."

"She was sitting there on a tin can, throwing them shoes into the fire and reading the New Testament. I got so mad, feeling like God was the cause of my bad life, that I grabbed it out of her hands and threw it into the fire."

He then tried to kill himself by slashing his wrists, he said. "I don't know how, but I was still alive the next morning and I told God then that I was going to dedicate my life to him," he said.

"I had always blamed the other folks for my troubles, the white man, the Uncle Tom, but the fault was within me and God set me free."

TESTIFIES: George Meany, 80-year-old president of the AFL-CIO, waits to testify before the House International Relations Committee in Washington Wednesday. Meany lectured the panel on the best way to deal with Russia. "If they kick us in the shits, we kick them in the shins," he said. "It's the only thing they understand." (AP Wirephoto)

Customers May Save, Says Edison

ST. CLAIR, Mich. (AP) — Edison officials said Wednesday the firm's decision to enter into a 25-year contract with a Montana coal company could save ratepayers up to $1 million over the next 25 years. Even though transportation costs from the Decker Coal Co. mine in Decker, Mont., are higher than costs for Appalachian coal, the mining costs are much lower, "more than making up the difference," Edison said.

The utility held a press briefing Wednesday in conjunction with Thursday's launch of a 770-foot superfreighter which next spring will begin carrying Montana coal from an Edison dock at Superior, Wis., to the firm's power plant in St. Clair. Edison said its western coal contract calls for delivery of about 300 million tons of low-sulphur coal. The utility said the coal will help it meet environmental regulations governing sulphur emissions at the St. Clair electric power generating plant.

The utility said the Montana coal commitment calls for very little capital construction — with its biggest project the $44 million dock facility at Superior.

Even with the controversial 30 per cent Montana state coal tax, Edison said it will save 20 to 40 per cent compared to the cost of Appalachian coal.

The utility said it expects to pay about 85 cents per million BTUs for Montana coal, and a spokesman said 5 cents of that would go to the tax. Most of the 85 cents will go for transportation, which isn't taxed.

House Bill Would Ensure Proper Storage Of Bodies

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill to ensure proper storage of bodies before burial and to place all Michigan cemeteries under control of the state Cemetery Commission has been introduced in the House.

The "stocking conditions" of delayed burials at three Detroit-area cemeteries during a grave diggers' strike last year prompted the proposal, said

Rep. Casmer P. Ogonowski, D-Detroit, the bill's sponsor.

"During a strike, when bodies cannot be buried, many cemeteries simply store the caskets in garages, between trucks and moving equipment," Ogonowski said today.

"This is less of a problem in cemeteries that are under the jurisdiction of the state commission," he said. "It applies mainly to religious and private cemeteries.

"The commission has rules and regulations that provide for decent and respectable storage of such bodies when temporary storage is required," Ogonowski said.

"A bereaved family is under enough emotional strain as it is," Ogonowski said. "If it becomes necessary to delay burial, then in all due respect for the deceased and the survivors, these bodies must be stored properly and with dignity."

HEADS FOR SHOWDOWN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration's move to resume selling U.S. arms to Turkey is headed for a showdown House vote, with both backers and foes saying the outcome is too close to predict.

Jail Death Revealed

MARQUETTE, Mich. (AP) — A 29-year-old man serving a seven-month sentence in the Marquette County Jail apparently committed suicide by hanging himself with his shirt, officials said Wednesday. James McGillis of Escanaba was found Friday hanging from a bunk in his cell with a shirt wrapped around his throat, county officials disclosed. No explanation was given by the sheriff's department for the five-day delay in revealing the incident. McGillis was serving a term for possession of LSD incurred while he was a prisoner at Marquette State Prison on a two-to-10-year term for breaking and entering.

The 1976 RCA Sportables are here!

Welcome to the world of "The Sportables"—a world of high-performance Black & White television.

RCA introduces "The Sportables". Go-anywhere sets. Smart stay-at-homes. And every one a brilliant performer.

Every "Sportable" has the quality you expect from RCA. All have the "New Vista 100," RCA's most advanced VHF tuner. All have 100% solid state chassis, one-set VHF fine tuning, distinctive styling.

The choice is yours. RCA's newest and best come in models to fit your life style, your budget, your desire to be "the first".

Whichever you choose, you get superbly engineered television. And an outstanding value. From RCA.

FREE RCA POCKETTE RADIO WITH THE PURCHASE OF ANY OF THESE BLACK AND WHITE SPORTABLE TV's.

THESE ADVANCED FEATURES ARE BUILT INTO EVERY 1976 RCA BLACK & WHITE TV.

100% solid state chassis is designed to give longer service, fewer repairs and, when compared to the latest RCA sets with tubes, at least 90% less energy consumption. Quick warm-up picture tube uses no energy when set is off.

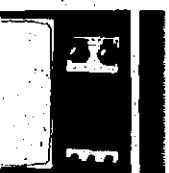

One antenna serves for both VHF and UHF. No need for a separate UHF ring antenna.

Interlocking protection circuitry—built into chassis. Minimizes picture interference from outside sources such as appliances and aircraft.

You fine-tune VHF channels the first time and your set "remembers" each position. Seldom needs readjustment. All controls are located in front where you can get to them. ON-OFF is a separate switch. So once you get the volume, it stays.

RCA's "New Vista 100" VHF tuner has been specially designed with two highly sensitive MOFET transistors to deliver excellent reception in both metropolitan and fringe signal areas. Large, front-mounted speaker gives excellent sound.

FROM BABY FOOD TO AUTOMOBILES State Manufacturers Welcome Visitors

Manufacturing probably has done more to put Michigan on the map than any other factor, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

Tours offered by most of the 20 firms selected by Auto Club emphasize that summer vacations are a good time to visit industrial attractions.

For example, a change in the country's eating habits gave birth to a new line of Michigan-made shoes at Rockford.

In 1903, the Hirth-Krause Co., later becoming Wolverine World Wide Inc., built a plant in Rockford north of Grand Rapids to make shoes and gloves.

Then in the 1930's, pre-packaged sliced bacon was introduced, making bacon find available for other uses. Wolverine employees developed equipment to remove tough, unsmoked pigskins from slaughtered animals, paving the way for the introduction of Hush Puppy shoes in 1958.

Tours aren't offered, but visitors can stop at Rockford's Squire Square, a restored area housing weaving, glass blowing and other craft shops, plus a mill.

The decline of lumber conceived the state's only baby food maker. In 1904, Frank Gerber, involved in Fremont's lumber industry, helped found a cooperative canning company.

His family bought the firm and in 1928, the plant first produced Michigan prepared baby food. The Gerber Products Co. began making baby food fulltime in 1943, and last year sold more than two billion jars, some of which visitors saw on tours offered at its Fremont plant.

Dr. John H. Kellogg believed in healthy diets rather than pills to cure what ails you. He headed a Battle Creek sanitarium and started his cereal company in the late 1880's.

C. W. Post, a former patient at the sanitarium, also was convinced of cereal products' value and began his empire in Battle Creek. Visitors now can view tons of grain transformed into cereal at both factories.

A few years later and a few miles north, Daniel Horn, Wisconsin cheesemaker moved to Pinckney and in 1915 put that city on the map as the state's cheese capital, building a store and factory.

What goes better with cheese than wine, especially Michigan wine? Winemakers came to Paw Paw in 1923 and now, the local countryside is entangled in grape vines thriving because of Lake Michigan's influence on the weather. That's only one of the facts you learn when touring one of Paw Paw's three wineries and sampling some of Michigan's best. Go during Paw Paw's Sept. 18-21 Grape Festival.

Who doesn't know that Detroit stands for? Visitors can watch as assembly lines spew forth autos destined for practically every street in the world. Flint, also an auto center, is the home of Buick, and several plant tours are offered there as well.

Another famous transportation city is Bay City. The large DeSoto boat works there specializes in refurbishing freighters and other ships. Specialty craft like racing sail and iceboats are turned out by the Gougeon brothers. Tours are not available, but the Museum of the Great Lakes in the city provides visitors background on the ship in Bay City's history.

On Mackinac Island, a marble table, a spatula and quick hands are the weapons used to create the island's most famous product — fudge. Tourists drawn into fudge shops lining the main street can watch workers knead and form the fudge into loaves for cutting.

The list of goods stamped "Michigan-made" goes on and on. Visitors can watch oil turned to gasoline at the state's second largest refinery, Tolu Leonard, in Alma, and see paper made at the Brown Paper Co. in Kalamazoo.

Still other plants can't be toured, but they contribute much to Michigan's economy, such as appliances built at Benton Harbor's Whirlpool Corp., clothing patterns at Simplicity Pattern Co.'s Niles plant, bowling equipment at the Brunswick Corp. in Muskegon, canoes from Oscoda's Sawyer Canoe Co., and manhole covers and other castings at the East Jordan Iron Works in East Jordan. A Consumers Power Co. plant at Marysville changes gas too dangerous for home use into safer natural gas.

Regardless of where the tourist goes, it's more than likely that a well-known item is being manufactured nearby.

VIENNA (AP) — President Nicolae Ceausescu of Romania says that 62 people died and 21 were missing in devastating floods that hit Romania over the last three weeks, inundating well over 1.9 million acres of farmland.

Top TV Name No Guarantee Of 'Hit' At Vegas

by MICHAEL MITCHELL,
Associated Press Writer

LAS VEGAS (AP) — What do Tony Orlando & Dawn, Peter Marshall of "Hollywood Squares" and Kojak have in common?

They are among the television stars headlining lately in Las Vegas showrooms. Some have found the Strip tougher than a Nielsen rating. Others have broken house records.

Why do they do it? For the money mostly, as well as the experience of trying Las Vegas performing.

"This is the big leagues," says Tony Zoppi, spokesman for the Riviera Hotel.

"Why does a ball player want to play for the Yankees? If he's got any ambition at all, a performer has to come to Las Vegas."

Many of Las Vegas' biggest acts are recording stars. They caught on first with the public through television.

The pop music group, Tony Orlando & Dawn, had a bagful of gold records when they tried Las Vegas a few years ago and fizzled.

They returned last month, a year after their highly rated television show premiered, and they nearly broke all attendance records at the Riviera.

Glen Campbell has been a big draw in Las Vegas ever since his music-comedy television hour a few years ago.

Tom Jones and Engelbert Humperdinck, two British recording stars, have been smash hits here ever since each had his own television show.

Johnny Carson has been a consistently big draw in Las Vegas.

"Doc" Severinson, Carson's "Tonight Show" music director, has succeeded in Las Vegas as has Ed McMahon, Carson's sidekick on the show. Peter Marshall, emcee of the Hollywood Squares game show, is bringing an act to the Desert Inn.

Like most of his television counterparts, he will sing, dance, keep up a line of light patter and generally frolic with a stageful of beautiful girls.

"What people don't realize is a guy like Peter Marshall is primarily a night club entertainer," said Zoppi. "He was a night club entertainer long before he got lucky in television."

But being a television star doesn't automatically mean one will be a Las Vegas hit. Not everyone will pay $15 or $20 just to see a star in the flesh.

Carroll O'Connor, the tube's acknowledged king as Archie Bunker of "All in the Family," brought a nightclub act to Las Vegas about two years ago. He couldn't fill the Riviera's showroom.

Telly Savalas, hard hitting police lieutenant in "Kojak," sang and soft-shoed around the Sahara Hotel stage earlier this month but played to only a partly filled showroom.

Sally Struthers, who plays Archie Bunker's daughter in "All in the Family," put an act together last year but had only mild success.

"A musical show or comedian stands a better chance than an actor," said Zoppi. "A person might be a brilliant actor, but there's not a lot he can do on a Las Vegas stage."

New York Puts Lottery On Tube

By JAY BRABUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Following a path blazed by several other states, New York tonight gives its state lottery a tryout on TV in a live half-hour show with the highest total payoff ever — more than $3 million.

The commercially sponsored show is being hosted by Monty Hall, star of ABC's high-rated "Let's Make a Deal." State lottery officials hope this venture also gets high ratings and boosts lottery ticket sales.

WABC-TV here is producing and broadcasting the show, which is being aired on six other stations elsewhere in the state.

Overlooked in the advance hoopla surrounding this program is an apparent question of whether state lottery officials gave other TV stations a fair crack at producing tonight's proceedings.

A spokeswoman for the state lottery in Albany says WABC, owned by the ABC Television network, went to her agency and said it was interested in producing the show, which she says is considered a pilot for a possible weekly lottery drawing series on TV in New York State.

She said lottery director Jerry Bruno, after discussing the proposal, had his office call the program directors at WABC's two major New York City competitors — WCBS-TV and WNBC-TV.

"And they (the program directors) said at the time they weren't interested," she said. Asked if they explained why, she said, "No. Obviously we weren't going to press them as to why."

WABC says it's paying $50,000 for the production cost of tonight's show, with the state lottery kicking in $5,000.

The states of Ohio, Illinois and Rhode Island already have aired their lottery drawings as TV shows and Michigan's lottery goes on the air today, following the passage by Congress last year of a bill permitting the broadcasts of state lotteries.

Judy Garland Blessed With A Rare Talent

"You and I listening, might hear a leaf drop; to her, it was a house crashing. You and I might be conscious of a preoccupied glance from a friend or intimate — she felt it like a physical blow."

We have all read of the enormous tragedy that marked Judy Garland's life — her five marriages, her long bouts with alcohol and barbiturates — but what of her genius and the unparalleled power she had over audiences all over the world? This week, noted biographer Gerold Frank, author of "Judy," offers the other side of this extraordinary star, the woman who intoxicated both audiences and men with her warmth, intensity of emotion and an unforgettable stage presence.

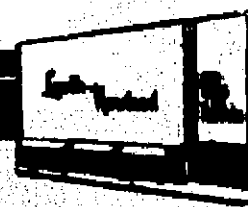

Read it Saturday in Family Weekly magazine, a regular feature of The Herald-Palladium.

Courts Curb Search Authority

More Aliens Slipping Into U.S.

By DAN TEDRICK
Associated Press Writer

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — The car was common enough, a 1965 faded-red Plymouth, and the occupant an American going to work or home. His trunk rode low with luggage — or Mexicans.

No border patrolmen were stopping cars that day. After 48 years, the permanent check station on Interstate 5 north of San Diego was closed. In an office of the $129,000 building, Gene Harris, acting patrol agent in charge, shrugged his shoulders.

"We know the illegals are going up the road by the thousands but right now we're powerless to do anything about it," Harris said. His 38 officers are trying to find illegal aliens in the back country between Los Angeles County and San Diego.

"The days of the fixed checkpoint are over," said Richard Batchelor, deputy chief of the U.S. Border Patrol's Chula Vista sector. It's the nation's busiest, responsible for catching illegal aliens from the Mexican border to San Luis Obispo north of Los Angeles, a 300-mile coastal stretch.

Border patrolmen must now have "probable cause to believe that the vehicle to be searched has within it illegal alien immigrants," wrote Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr. in the majority opinion June 30 of U.S. vs. Ortiz.

In a companion ruling, U.S. vs. Brignoni-Ponce, argued successfully by the same three young San Diego public defenders, the nation's highest court held that border patrolmen must be able to list good reasons for suspecting that a car stopped by roving patrols is carrying illegal immigrants.

The U.S. Border Patrol officially contends the effect of the rulings is minimal; mainly because its officers have been instructed since 1973 that "probable cause" is needed for suspecting aliens were trying to slip past officers.

Batchelor said: "We haven't adjusted our procedures at all. We stop all cars at the border and make selected stops elsewhere, based on probable cause."

Agents in Texas, New Mexico and Arizona agree but say they are disturbed that the government lost its court fight to free them to search at will.

Civil libertarians say they are delighted that border patrolmen, until now armed with extraordinary police powers, no longer stop and search Americans simply because they look Mexican or may be smuggling men illegally.

But Charles Sevilla, the 30-year-old grandson of Spanish immigrants, says border patrolmen still have unlimited power at the border.

"If a car is traveling alone in an area of high smuggling activity near the border, say at an unusual hour, the court will probably uphold that stop," said Sevilla, who argued the Ortiz case successfully before the U.S. Supreme Court.

In McAllen, Tex., chief inspector Tom Ball says that if the definition of probable cause has been narrowed "it's something we can live with."

In San Antonio, Tex., an attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union said the court rulings merely reaffirm that people who live near the international border are protected by the Fourth Amendment.

Says Gerald Goldstein: "While the Border Patrol's roving patrols will be limited to some degree, I don't think the decisions will be much of a hindrance to them."

Mateo Camarillo, executive director of the Chicano Federation of San Diego County, said the court decision helps Mexican-Americans believe in the judicial system because "having a brown skin is not just cause for being suspected of committing a crime or living in this country."

The decision has caused a dispute over whether curtailing the at-will searches of border patrolmen will hurt the nation's hunt for narcotics smugglers.

Steve Nelson, who heads the criminal division of the U.S. attorney's office in San Diego, says the enforcement of alien laws turns up "millions of dollars in illegal narcotics annually."

"A border patrolman often opens up a trunk and finds 400 or 600 pounds of marijuana," Nelson said. "Look at what the Border Patrol has stopped and prevented from getting to its destination just with roving patrols alone — and losing it is the price we're now paying for closing down the checkpoints and stopping the roving patrols."

But Ball, Batchelor and David Blackwell, chief inspector at El Paso, Tex., say the court rulings have little real effect on the way their men are operating.

Batchelor said only 12,007 cars of the 3,000,844 which passed through the San Clemente station from June 1974 until it was closed last March were stopped for inspections. Of that, 8,381 illegal aliens were discovered in 2,998 of those vehicles.

"An agent simply knows, because of his experiences, when to stop a vehicle and check it," said Allan O. Owen, assistant chief patrol agent at El Centro, Calif. "He may detect nervousness, or catch an obvious lie, or he may even hear a cough coming from the trunk."

The "physical presence" of the checkpoint buildings will be maintained and vigilance stepped up along the border, Batchelor said. Blackwell said at El Paso that the agency's traditional job will be done.

Some say the change in the border watch will aid U.S. growers who hire cheaper alien labor.

Tony Orendian, an organizer for the United Farm Workers Union at Pecos, Tex., said

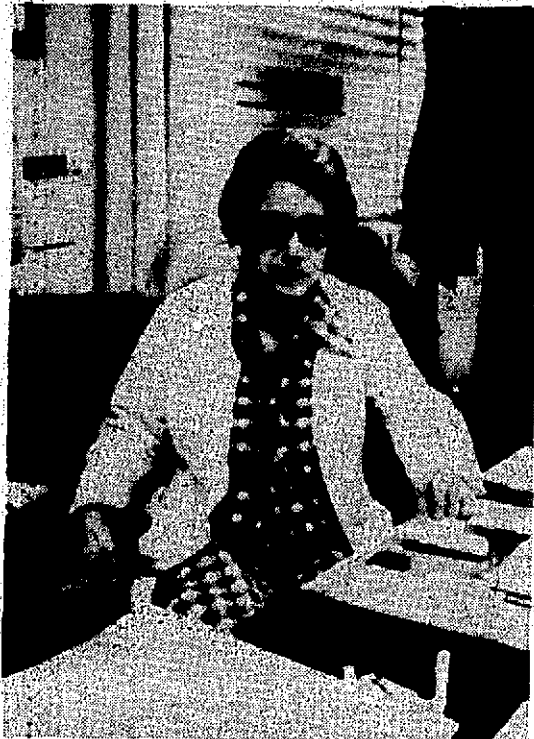

"There will be more illegals and the growers can pay even less" for help.

A federal law punishing Americans for hiring illegals is regarded by many as a solution to the problem. In his concurring opinion in both cases, Supreme Court Justice Byron White said that the U.S. system "has noticeably been unsuccess-cessful ... as long as it is lawful for business firms and others to employ aliens who are illegally in this country."

Sevilla agrees.

"When the border patrol had total power, we still had 10 million aliens in this country illegally," he says. "And all the Border Patrol powers in the world couldn't prevent that."

BEHIND BARS: Dr. Virginia Lauzun, 64, medical director at Southern Michigan prison in Jackson for eight months, is only full-time doctor in an infirmary that serves 4,000 inmates. She said she has never been afraid and the only real danger to her was overwork. Prison is supposed to have five full-time doctors. (AP Wirephoto)

Detroit Police Hope Photos Will Halt Slaying Series

By MARTHA HAIN
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — Hoping to stop a murderer, police are handing out composite photos of a tall, muscular man to

COMPOSITE PHOTO
Suspect in slayings

streetwalkers in the sleazy Cass Corridor section of downtown Detroit. Investigators believe the man already is responsible for the murders of five young women — all prostitutes — in the past three months. They fear he may strike again. The suspect — dubbed the "Cass Corridor Killer" and "Big Foot" — is the object of an around-the-clock manhunt, police report. They note some patterns in the crimes. All the murder victims were between the ages of 16 and 22. All were "street girls," meaning they solicited men on street corners rather than in bars. Four women who were attacked by a man who fits the description say he approached them in a brown and beige Oldsmobile of early 1970s vintage. The man, they said, offered them $13 to have sex with him. After the women got into the car, police say, the man pulled a knife, drove them to a secluded place and raped and sodomized them. "You can be assured that this case is being given ultimate attention and, ultimately, man-power," says Officer Wanda Hernacki, a member of Squad Seven, which investigates felony murders and is in charge of finding the Cass Corridor Killer. Officer Hernacki said more than 27 police officers — "an integrated team of blacks, whites, men and women" — are working on the case. Three of the murder victims were white and two were black. The latest victim was found July 13. The killer left the body of a 22-year-old woman in an abandoned restaurant. "We check out people daily,

Officers are arresting people on the basis of descriptions and bringing them in," Officer Hernacki said. "But we have no one in custody right now who we feel is going to solve the case." The crimes have frightened residents of the run-down, blighted area. Before the murders started last April 24, there were four rapes, all by a man who fit "Big Foot's" description. Police are seeking a large, muscular black man with a mustache and huge hands and feet. Some prostitutes charge their traditional hostilities with police have hampered the case's progress. But Officer Hernacki said prostitutes have been very helpful, coming to the station at any time to view lineups. "We're not trying to dehumanize these people. They have a right to have their lives safeguarded, the same as you or I," she said. But one Woodward Avenue prostitute contended police aren't doing all they can to catch the killer. "If this was five suburban housewives who had been killed, it would be all over Page One every day," the prostitute said. "The police would be all over the place, and they'd catch this guy." Officer Hernacki bristles at the criticism. "I can tell you that the manpower is very large and this case is being worked on around the clock. It wouldn't be handled any other way, whether the victims were prominent or lowly. We want to see this man off the streets as badly as anyone else does." Prostitutes in the area are taking special precautions. Some are carrying weapons; other say they've started having men friends watch over them. But even those measures, they say, can backfire. "If we arm ourselves for selfprotection and we get busted for soliciting, they also charge us with carrying a concealed weapon," one reported. "Here we have a maniac running loose, and the cops are concerned about making prostitution arrests," said Pat, a 30-year-old woman who sometimes works the corner of Woodward and Piquette. "This man's got to go," said a pimp spinning a silver-handled cane. "He has all the girls uptight. He's the worst thing around here in a long time."

Officer Hernacki said the only advice she can give to women in the area is to be careful. "It would be silly for me to say, 'Don't go with strangers,' because these people earn their living by doing just that," the officer said. "But the description is out. Anyone with the occasion to be out late at night knows the man's description, knows his method of operation." "We want them to use common sense. That's all you can ask."

Going Back Today In History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Thursday, July 24, the 205th day of 1975. There are 160 days left in the year. Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1704, the British captured Gibraltar from Spain during the War of the Spanish Succession. On this date: In 1783, the Latin American patriot, Simon Bolivar, was born in Caracas, Venezuela. In 1870, the first railroad car from the Pacific Coast reached New York City. In 1929, President Herbert Hoover proclaimed the Kellogg-Briand pact, which renounced war as an instrument of national policy. In 1942, in World War II, British bombers devastated the German cities of Frankfurt and Mannheim. In 1948, the first underwater test of an atomic bomb was made by the United States off Bikini atoll in the Pacific. In 1950, Vice President Richard Nixon and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev had a heated debate at a kitchen display at a U.S. exhibition in Moscow. Ten years ago: U.S. bombers and support aircraft carried out the first attack against an explosives factory in North Vietnam. Five years ago: The United States offered the Soviet Union a package accord to curb missiles. One year ago: The U.S. Supreme Court ruled that President Richard Nixon must turn over White House documents subpoenaed for the Watergate cover-up trial. Today's birthdays: Former U.S. Food and Drug Administrator Frances Kelsey is 61 years old. Theatrical producer Alexander Cohen is 55. Thought for today: It is a great nuisance that knowledge can only be acquired by hard work — Somerset Maugham, English writer, 1874-1963.

Fast Drying Paint On Roads

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The use of fast-drying paint on Michigan highways this year means motorists no longer bump 40 to drive over and knock down the rubber cones guarding the sides of wet paint. The cones aren't used anymore. All paint sprayed from the 12 Department of State Highways and Transportation lane marking rigs in 1975 dries in two minutes, the department said Tuesday. Some 307,000 gallons of yellow paint and nearly 146,000 gallons of white paint to be used this year are heated to about 140 degrees before they hit the pavements. The heat causes paint's normally sticky ingredients to dry quickly.

Tunnel Probe Panel Picked

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A special House investigating committee with subpoena power was created Tuesday to probe the Port Huron tunnel explosion which killed 22 workmen in 1971. The committee is expected to question contractors, tunnel inspectors and officials who were responsible for investigating the blast. Rep. David Bonior, D-Mount Clemens, sponsor of the resolution, said there are "too many unanswered questions" about the explosion. An exact cause was never officially determined although a buildup of methane gas is one suspected cause. The State Labor Department, following published newspaper accounts, issued a report four months ago acknowledging the blast could have been prevented and was never properly investigated.

Marshal Named For Glad Parade

COLOMA — Susan Shuran, Miss Southwest Michigan of 1973, has been named grand marshal for the Coloma Gladiolus Festival parade, according to Rocco Bertuca, parade chairman.

As grand marshal, Miss Shuran will lead the parade entries here on Aug. 2. Over 65 entries are expected to participate in the parade, which is part of a three-day festival set for Aug. 1-3, Bertuca said.

Miss Shuran, 19, graduated from Northrop high school in Ft. Wayne, Ind., after attending Lakeshore high school. She will be a junior at Purdue University this fall. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Shuran of Stevensville will be a junior at Purdue University this fall.

Her appearance is in cooperation with the Southwest Michigan Scholarship pageant. Earlier this month, Randy Beckman, 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Beckman, 3010 Wilson road, Coloma was named honorary grand marshal for the parade.

When conservatives appeared to have the upper hand at the meeting, Busch himself offered a resolution saying his ELIM activity was "offensive conduct" as defined by the national convention and calling for his removal as pastor. The motion was approved.

Still, Busch said the action was "not right, not Lutheran, but legal." He will leave his job officially Aug. 31.

ELIM was described as "schismatic" by conservative delegates, who held the majority at the national convention of the 2.8-million-member denomination July 4-11.

The delegates approved several measures to force more moderate Lutherans active in ELIM from church ranks, labeling them "schismatics."

An ELIM spokesman said Busch's removal was the first such action since the denomination's recent national convention in Anaheim, where debate over the movement threatened to split the church apart.

Busch said trouble had been brewing in the Glendora church for months. It came to a head July 16 when the church's all-male voting assembly declined, 48-22, to give him a vote of confidence.

Lutheran Church Ousts Minister

GLENDORA, Calif. (AP) — A minister has been removed from his pastorate in the aftermath of a recent convention dispute in the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod over doctrinal differences.

The Rev. Edward Busch, 44, was removed by the voting assembly of the 900-member Hope Lutheran Church of Glendora, a Los Angeles suburb, for his continued activities in the more-moderate Evangelical Lutherans in Mission (ELIM).

An ELIM spokesman said Busch's removal was the first such action since the denomination's recent national convention in Anaheim, where debate over the movement threatened to split the church apart.

amount of money appropriated by the legislature.

"Until we get legislative and executive approval, we do not have the authority to change those levels of need," Joseph LaRosa, department deputy director, said Wednesday.

Crim said he received Ruppe's letter Tuesday and planned to discuss it with aides and the Department of Social Services. Fitzgerald said he had no knowledge of the letter.

If an increase is approved, it will be retroactive to July 1, the social services spokesman said. Recipients will get the difference in one check, he said.

In addition, the department wants the legislature to allow federal increases to be passed along automatically in the future, LaRosa said.

Prior to the cost-of-living increase, Michigan recipients living alone got $146 from the federal government and $24 from the state. Now the federal government pays $137.70 and the state $23.90.

The House-passed bill would put the state share at $24.30, increasing the total to $162.

BH Police Recover Stolen Car

Benton Harbor police recovered a stolen auto soon after it was reported missing to Benton township police Wednesday morning.

Clinton Orr, 1588 East Main street, told Benton township police his Buick Electra was stolen sometime during the night from where it was parked in the 1800 block of Highland avenue in the township. Benton Harbor police found the car at the end of High street near the Penn Central railroad tracks.

Three citizens band radios were reported stolen from three trucks owned by Don Bailey Trucking, 1636 Red Arrow highway, to Benton township police. The radios were valued at about $475.

A tool box with assorted hand tools, valued at $300 was reported stolen to Benton Harbor police from the Kizer Body shop, 399 Territorial street.

When police arrived shortly before 7:30 p.m. Jones allegedly told them he wouldn't come out and for police to leave. Police also said that Jones threatened to kill the family if they tried to leave.

Police said all of the hostages were unharmed in the incident. The six-year-old daughter who escaped told police her father and mother were arguing, then told them they could not leave the house.

Cass Plans Another Vo-Ed School Vote

DOWAGIAC — Cass county's intermediate school board last night began a second effort to get voter approval of a $2.2 million vocational education center for the county.

The board asked that the four high school districts in the county take formal action to endorse the move in launching the new attempt.

Representatives from the districts, Dowagiac, Cassopolis, Marcellus and Edwardsburg, endorsed the proposal after caucusing independently during last night's proceedings.

School boards from the districts and representatives from Southwestern Michigan college were present for the session.

Cass voters in April, 1974, defeated an initial bid for financing the center $3,445 to $865. Involved then were a financing bond issue and a millage rate for operation. Had both passed an additional 3.3 mill property tax rate would have been involved.

The new proposal would involve a rate of two mills, according to intermediate board officials, because of an increase in the county's property value for tax purposes.

A second vote for a proposed center would not be attempted until late spring or early in the fall of 1976, according to spokesmen for the school boards.

Need for a center is due to a high drop out rate in the county which rank third in the state as of the 1972-73 school year, according to Arthur Towle, superintendent for the intermediate district.

He added that county students who have been attending a vocational center in Elkhart, Ind., would be phased out over the next three years.

Under the proposed plan as outlined by Towle, the $2.2 million center would provide training in 19 vocational areas for 600-800 high school juniors and seniors a year.

Half of the building and equipping costs would be paid by state and federal monies and the remaining $1.1 million would come from a local millage levy.

A levy of one-half mill for 18 years would pay off the building debt and another 1.5 mills would be needed to provide for the county's share of the operating expenses, or about $300,000, according to Towle. Another $200,000 would come from the state for operations, he added.

GIRLS DOMINATE VAN BUREN AWARDS

Three Capture Twelve Of Top Livestock Prizes

By DENNIS COGSWELL

Paw Paw Bureau

HARTFORD — Three girls walked off with 12 of the top awards in livestock judging at the Van Buren Youth Fair here yesterday.

Gayle Spencer, 18, Lawton, and Alice Rhodes, 15, Paw Paw, swept most of the top honors in dairy and sheep judging respectively, while a third, tiny eight-year-old Joanna Mastenbrook of Gobles, handled her 215-pound Yorkshire to grand champion market hog honors after winning her own weight class.

Gayle guided her big white Holstein to grand champion honors, and with the same animal was named champion dairy showman. She also won first place in the dam and daughter, exhibitor's herd, and cow over four years categories.

Alice, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Rhodes, Paw

Paw, had the grand champion market lamb with a 110-pound Suffolk-Shropshire crossbred ewe, and won champion sheep showmanship honors. She also showed the champion and reserve grand champion ewes, and top yearling and aged ewes.

But the day wasn't a total waste for the male sex, as 18-year Gary Mead of Decatur added a championship in hog showmanship to go with a title he won Monday in beef showmanship. He also finished second in dairy showmanship yesterday.

He now advances to Saturday's championship sweepstakes, an event in which he is defending champion. Contestants in the sweepstakes show hogs, sheep, dairy cows, steers, and horses.

Attendance at the fair yesterday was put at 7,900, bringing the three-day total to 15,450, a five per cent increase over last year, fair officials said.

The star of the fair last night, country singer Toni Ingraham, got a bigger workout than she expected. Fair officials reported that she arrived at the fairgrounds early Wednesday morning and helped deliver a calf from a cow owned by Vic Mead of Decatur.

Animals from this week's swine, beef, and sheep judging will go on sale tonight at 7 p.m. in the annual youth auction. An auto thrill show by Dan Fleener and his Hell Drivers is scheduled for 8 p.m.

On Friday from 1-4 p.m. for $3 fairgoers will be able to ride all the rides they want, as many times as they like. Also scheduled are a horse show at 9 a.m., a tractor pull at 11 a.m., and shows at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. by country singer Barbara Fairchild.

In yesterday's dairy judging, Tina Stanard, Lawrence, was young showman, Laurie Utter, Paw Paw, junior showman, and Mark Van Horn, Bloomingdale, senior Division I showman. Gary Mead of Decatur had the reserve grand champion cow, with Sue Nesbitt of Lawton winning the junior championship.

Other dairy winners included: Senior yearling heifer, Sue Nesbitt; Lawton; senior calf, Judy Stanard, Lawrence; club herd, Ken Spencer, Lawton; production record, Nancy Van Horn, Bloomingdale; junior yearling heifer (Guernsey), Pat Waldo, Paw Paw; cow under four, Judy Stanard, Lawrence; cow over four, Tina Stanard, Lawrence, senior calf (all breeds), Tina Stanard, Lawrence.

Jack Arnold of Decatur had the reserve grand champion market lamb in the sheep judging. Sheep showmanship winners were Kip Kridler, Bloomingdale; young, Allen Taylor, Decatur, junior; and Ginger Barnes, Lawrence, senior Division II.

Other winners in the sheep judging were: grand champion pen of three, Allen Taylor, Decatur; reserve grand champion pen of three, Jim Hashbrook, Gobles; ewe lamb, John Witt, Hartford; and carcass lamb, Jim Hashbrook, Gobles.

Jeff Melvin of Bloomingdale had both the reserve grand champion market pig and pair of hogs. Andy Mastenbrook of Gobles had the grand champion pair.

Showmanship winners in swine judging included Gary Mead, Decatur, senior Division II; Stuart Spears, Gobles, senior Division I; Jeff Reas, Lawton, junior; and Ken Hashbrook, Gobles, young.

Class winners were: Market hog, 180-205 pounds, Brian Mead, Decatur, 210-240, Joanna Mastenbrook, Gobles; pair 150-205, Brian Mead, Decatur, pair 210-240, Andy Mastenbrook, Gobles; breeding gilt, Doug Stoughton, Paw Paw; and breeding sow, Scott Mastenbrook, Gobles.

The main gate at the fairgrounds is located off CR-681 near Red Arrow highway, between Lawrence and Hartford.

Kent Man Indicted

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)

—Three indictments charging a Rockford man with fraud and selling $920,000 in unregistered securities have been issued by a one-man grand jury.

Kent County Circuit Court Judge Stuart Hoffius issued the indictments Wednesday against Donald D. Breckenridge. Each indictment contains one count of false pretenses and two of selling unregistered securities.

GRAND CHAMPION HOG: A 215-pound Yorkshire shown by Joanna Mastenbrook, 8, won grand champion hog honors last night at Van Buren Youth fair. Joanna is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Mastenbrook of Gobles.

WINNING SHEEP: Alice Rhodes, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Rhodes, Paw Paw, was winner of sheep showmanship competition and also had grand champion market lamb yesterday at Van Buren Youth fair. Her grand champion Suffolk-Shropshire cross ewe weighs 110 pounds. Jack Arnold, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. H.J. Arnold, Decatur, had reserve grand champion lamb with 110-pound Suffolk ram.

Niles Man Dies When Car Rolls Near Berrien Springs

By JOHN DYE

South Berrien Bureau

BERRIEN SPRINGS — A Niles man was hurtled to his death early today when his car went out of control and on Range Line road south of here and rolled over.

State police, from Niles said the victim, Mark Wetmore, 21, 1818 Niles-Buchanan road, Niles, was thrown from the car as it rolled over about three-quarters of a mile south of Long Lake road. He was tossed 75 feet, officers said.

According to troopers, Wetmore suffered head and neck injuries and was pronounced dead on arrival at Pawling hospital, Niles.

The crash occurred about 1:10 a.m. as the car was traveling south.

Pulled from Niles, Niles township and Buchanan were called for assistance by state police when troopers first feared that a passenger might have also been thrown from the auto, but police said they later determined Wetmore was the only person in the car.

The accident was the 23rd traffic fatality in Berrien county

Spittoons Prizes For Spitters

HARTFORD — Hardened tobacco chewers will get a chance to show off their skills at the Van Buren Youth fair Friday night.

Bob Millhouse of Hartford, a field representative for the Lorillard corporation, which manufactures chewing tobacco, said there will be a tobacco spitting contest in front of the fairground's main office at 7 p.m. Friday.

Competition will be in three divisions — accuracy, distance, and for women and senior citizens. The prize to the winner in each case will be a solid brass spittoon.

Millhouse said tobacco spitting enjoys great popularity in the south, and that Friday's contest will be one of the first of its type in the Midwest.

A national contest in Kansas City each year draws hundreds of competitors, he noted.

OFFICERS EXAMINE WRECKAGE: State police troopers from Niles examine wreckage of car which went out of control on Range Line road south of Berrien Springs early today, hurling driver to his death. # LMC Summer Term A Record

The first section of a record summer school program at Lake Michigan college will come to a close Friday. Registrar Thomas P. McCourt said the 700 students enrolled for summer courses was 18 per cent above last year, and the largest enrollment on record. He noted that the credit hours taken this summer, amounting to 3,406 hours, were 30 per cent above a year ago.

Students in the six-week summer session will close their work tomorrow, and an eight-week session will run to Aug. 8.

The 700-student enrollment figure did not include persons in short courses and other special classes that started after June 18, the close of registration for the summer school program.

McCourt reported summer school enrollments for the previous seven years to illustrate the gains experienced. Enrollments were: 406 in 1968; 434 in 1970; 627 in 1971; 601 in 1972; 736 in 1973; and 736 in 1974.

Paw Paw Lake Level Hearing Is Sought

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON

Staff Writer

The County of Berrien has filed a petition in Berrien circuit court asking the court to hold a public hearing to determine the normal height of Paw Paw Lake and affix responsibility for construction and maintenance of devices needed to maintain that height.

Asst. Berrien Prosecutor John Bruha, representing the county, said the public hearing on the matter will probably be held in late September or early October, although no specific date has yet been set. He indicated the hearing will be held in circuit court.

The petition asks that the normal level of Paw Paw Lake be set at 621.8 feet above mean sea level, and that the agency or governmental unit responsible for maintaining that level be determined.

Bruha said a state statute says the county is responsible for building devices necessary to maintain the level, and that a special assessment district would probably bear the major burden of cost for flood control devices.

County Planning Director Charles Eckenstahler said a flood gate at the M-140 bridge over the Paw Paw river in Watervliet would probably be needed to prevent river water from flowing into the lake in order to keep the level down, and some type of pipe would be used to raise the level when necessary. Eckenstahler noted the lake fluctuates to a height of 626 feet above mean sea level and a low of about 618 feet.

The petition notes the normal height of 621.8 — the same as is again being sought — was established in Berrien circuit court on Oct. 28, 1948, but the order did not indicate who or what was responsible for maintaining that level.

The county board of commissioners on June 19, 1973, received petitions signed by more than two-thirds of the property owners whose property abuts Paw Paw Lake, asking re-establishment of the 621.8 foot level plus a determination of responsibility for keeping the lake at that level.

Big Tournament Has Become Unique Golf Event

It's Western Amateur Time Here Again!

BY JIM DeLAND
Sports Editor

In four years, at Point O'Woods, the Western Amateur golf tournament has become something special.

They call it "The Masters of the Amateurs" and that's true in almost every respect.

Like the Masters, the Western Amateur is almost certainly the most prestigious tournament in its classification other than the national championship.

Like the Masters, it now has a permanent home — the beautiful Robert Trent Jones course that has hosted the tournament six times in the past 12 years.

And like the Masters, it has become a unique event that has caught the public's fancy in unprecedented fashion.

Other amateur golf tournaments — even the U.S. Amateur — are fortunate if they draw a few hundred spectators.

The Western Amateur draws thousands.

More than 24,000 fans attended last year's tournament and the crowds for the championship match have been close to 52,000 in each of the past two years.

It's a long tournament — almost twice as long as most others — and there's time to enjoy the scenery as well as the golf.

As is the case with the Masters, many fans have become "regulars" at the Western Amateur, often turning it into a family outing with picnic lunches or a meal at the busy concession tent, where they can mingle with the golfers they have just seen play.

It's a fun time, and even the golfers have gotten into the swing of things.

Most of them chat freely with spectators during their rounds and in recent years even the biggest names have remained on the scene after they have been eliminated, often serving as radio commentators during the championship match.

Friendships have sprung up between the golfers and local residents who have been their hosts — or in many cases, dates — and their return the following year takes on the some aspects of a reunion.

The hospitality and tremendous spectator interest have made the tournament a favorite with the players on the summer amateur "tour" and their word-of-mouth advertising has helped swell the ranks of entrants to record totals.

The golfers, in turn, have provided fans with memorable moments as well as a preview of future professional stars like Tom Watson, Tom Kite, Ben Crenshaw and Eddie Pearece.

"I just love this tournament — it's one of my favorites," Walker Cup team member Gary Koch said last year in his third appearance at Point O'Woods. "I think most of the players feel the same."

As far as southwestern Michigan is concerned, the feeling is mutual.

All signs point toward another banner turnout next week when Curtis Strange returns to defend his title against an impressive lineup of challengers including his college roommate Jay Haas, whom he defeated in the finals a year ago.

Together, Strange and Haas have led Wake Forest to two straight NCAA championships with each winning one individual title, but the odds of duplicating last year's finish are astronomical despite the departure of players like Koch, Craig Stadler and Jerry Pate for the professional ranks.

New stars certainly will rise to take their place and maintain the tournament's reputation as probably the best in amateur golf circles today.

As the accompanying photographs from last summer's tournament may suggest, it's probably the most fun, too.

WHERE'S THE BALL? Mrs. M.H. White and her daughter are used to watching sporting events...but usually the ball is easier to see. Their husband and father is basketball coach at South Haven high school.

FASHION PARADE: When it comes to attire, anything goes for spectators during Western Amateur golf tournament at Point O'Woods.

SJ Legion Drops 'Weird' Contest

St. Joseph Legion won the hitting battle but lost the run war Wednesday night.

St. Joe out-hit South Haven 9-1 but still lost 4-2 in a weird American Legion Blue-Gray league game at Riverview Park.

Despite the setback, St. Joe still clinched third place in the standings when St. Joseph Mack fell to Lakeshore Legion 10-2. Champion South Haven ends league play at 17-1. Lakeshore at 15-3 (second) and St. Joseph Legion at 10-8. St. Joe Mack, slated to play at Three Oaks tonight, is 8-9.

with three innings of relief help from Jim Welch. Bob Strzynski was tagged with the defeat.

South Haven blended two St. Joe errors, two walks, a passed ball and its lone hit, a RBI single by Dan Sherman, for all its runs in the fifth frame. All were unearned.

St. Joe had taken a 2-0 lead with a run in the third on a double by Rick Dyer, a single by Mike Collier and a sacrifice fly by Roger Vogt and then added one in the fifth on singles by Collier, Jay Caravino and Jeff Miskill.

Herb Ross led the St. Joe attack with three singles.

Sherman took the mound win with relief help from Dave Gumpert. Roger Schwobel took the loss with Don Mann pitching the sixth inning.

The game served as a preview of Friday's scheduled contest between the two clubs in American Legion district tournament action.

Barry Adams and Dale Burwell slashed two hits and Tim Farrow a homer in Lakeshore's romp. Lakeshore scored five times in the fourth to wrap up the win. Bubba LaBaumhard crashed two doubles and a single for St. Joe Mack.

Jeff Wiles posted the victory

NAP TIME: Watching a golf tournament can be tiring at times, but there's always a shady spot where you can take a nap before heading out around the course again.

NFL Talks Start Up Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — No one's talking much but there appears to be at least a little movement in the contract negotiations between the National Football League owners and players.

Both sides placed a proposal on the bargaining table Wednesday in attempts to reach an accord on a new collective bargaining agreement and end the year and a half dispute which triggered last year's players' strike and disrupted the 1974 training season.

Negotiations were to be continued today under the auspices of a federal mediator.

"It's something to look at...a point of departure," said James F. Secarce, deputy national director of the mediation service, when the meeting was recessed. "Each side will review and study the other's proposal."

"We're here to negotiate," Secarce had said earlier. "We are going to press as hard as we can. We think the timing is right."

The NFL Management Council, representing the owners, began the action in the morning when it placed a proposal on the table shortly after the two sides got together in joint sessions.

The closed-door negotiations, the first in three months, were then recessed so that the NFL Players Association could go over the offer.

Late in the afternoon, both sides met again in joint session and the players' union offered what Secarce first called a "counterproposal" and then termed "a proposal."

There was a short discussion and the talks were recessed for the evening. Neither side would discuss the proposals nor were any details made public.

Contract negotiations have continued since early 1974 with no obvious conclusion in sight. The players went on a 42-day strike last summer before returning to play the season without a collective bargaining agreement.

One of the central issues in the dispute is the controversial Rozelle compensation rule which permits the commissioner to decide the worth of a player who moves to another team after his option and the two clubs cannot come to an agreement.

Hot Angel Hurler Tames Orioles

Tanana Showing Up Ryan

That California Angels pitcher — the one who is leading the major leagues in strikeouts, the one who has won eight of his last nine decisions — his name is Frank Tanana.

That OTHER California pitcher — the fellow who watched Wednesday night's Angels game from the bullpen — his name is Nolan Ryan.

Strange as the role reversal may seem, young Tanana is the pitcher burning up the American League while Ryan's Express languishes at the depot with eight consecutive losses.

"He has poise. He's getting more mature all the time," observed Angels Manager Dick Williams after the 22-year-old left-hander blanked the Baltimore Orioles 1-0 on six singles Wednesday night. "At this stage of his career, he has a lot of control compared to other left-handers of the past: Seare, Koufax, Spahn, Haddix..."

Tanana, 9-5, exhibited that control with eight strikeouts against the Orioles. He raised his major league-leading total to 139 in 1431-3 innings and averaged a 1-0 loss to the Orioles and Jim Palmer on May 16.

"Now I'm even with Jimmy (Palmer for the 1-0 loss)," said Tanana, who now leads Ryan by seven strikeouts in 172-3 fewer innings. Joe Lahoud gave Tanana all the support he needed with an RBI single in the first inning.

Elsewhere in the American League, Oakland stopped Detroit, 3-0. Boston trimmed Minnesota 4-2. Kansas City sloped past Milwaukee 4-1 in the rain and Texas beat Cleveland 8-8 in 13 innings while the Yankees' game at Chicago was rained out.

Cecil Cooper homered and left-fielder Jim Rice made two sparkling defensive plays in leading the Red Sox to their 13th triumph in 15 games.

Rice robbed Minnesota's Glenn Borgmann of a home run with a leaping catch at the left-field barrier in the fifth inning and took an extra-base hit away from Borgmann in the seventh with a running catch against the fence in left-center field.

Roger Moret got ninth-inning relief help from Jim Willoughby, who got the last two outs in the seven-inning.

Mike Cabbage's sacrifice fly in the 13th inning capped a two-run rally and lifted the Texas past Cleveland. The Rangers entered the inning trailing 8-7 but pulled even on an outfield error before Cabbage struck.

The Indians scored five times after two were out in the ninth to tie it at 7-7. The victory was the third straight for Texas since Frank Lucchesi replaced the deposed Billy Martin as manager Monday night.

Buck Martinez and John Mayberry hit home runs, lifting Kansas City over Milwaukee in a game delayed by rain for nearly three hours.

Tiger Notes

DETROIT (AP) — Center-fielder Ron LeFlore is expected back in the Detroit Tiger lineup Friday, but leftfielder Dan Meyer may be out of action much longer than originally anticipated.

LeFlore has been out nearly a week with a knee injury, while Meyer hasn't played since just before the All-Star break because of a small fracture in his foot.

Manager Ralph Houk is concerned about Meyer's condition. "He's not good at all. He's not getting any better," Houk said Wednesday. "That's got to be whipped. I'm real disappointed in the way he's coming along. The doctors are going to check him again. They'll re-x-ray him Thursday or Friday."

The absence of the pair cripples the moves Houk could make. Had outfielders Ben Oglivie, Mickey Stanley or Leon Roberts gotten hurt in recent games, Houk would have been forced to use either Gates Brown — who hasn't played defensively in a couple years — or designated hitter Willie Horton, who hasn't taken the field this season.

Heights, Improved Lincoln Notch Connie Mack Wins

Benton Heights almost got caught looking past lowly South Haven Wednesday night but the Indians managed to shut off a seventh inning rally in time to take a 6-4 Connie Mack win.

A vastly improved North Lincoln squad ended its season Wednesday night with an 11-5 defeat of Hagar in the only other game played.

The Heights was cruising with a 6-0 lead going into the last inning when the entire team developed a case of the thumbs. Andy Olson and Mike Capaccio both got on base due to errors and when pick-off plays went awry, they both scampered home.

Jim Sankofski and Kevin Berhalter scored the last South Haven runs on errors.

Benton Heights notched a single run in the third on Phil Arivett's single and then exploded for five runs in the fifth inning for what seemed to be a comfortable lead. Arivett and John Hamilton had RBI singles, Les Arant doubled in one run and the other two scored on errors.

Rick Haney got the win as the Heights raises its season mark to 8-2. South Haven drops to 1-11 with Jody Haunerson getting the loss.

Tim Case for North Lincoln and Hagar's Craig Stevens almost didn't make it out of the first inning in their ball game. Stevens was tagged for five runs with Case knocking in one with a single. Bob Shafer driving home two with a single and the last pair coming home on errors.

Hagar jumped on Case for three runs with Mike Weir doubling in Brian Brookhouse and Ray Turner getting two RBIs with a single. Brookhouse, a Babe Ruth player brought by Hagar coach Steve White, went three-for-four last night.

Both clubs notched single runs in the second inning but North Lincoln's strength helped it pull away with two runs in the fourth, one in the fifth and two in the seventh. Hagar scored its last run in the fourth.

Dan Streick was a pain in Hagar's side all night as he got on base four times, scored twice and drove in a pair of runs. Winning pitcher Case and Shafer had two singles each for North Lincoln, which ends with a 10-4 record. Last season, Lincoln managed just eight wins in 17 games. The loss drops Hagar to 1-12.

Kickers Hosting Soccer Tourney

The St. Joe Kickers will be sponsoring a two-division soccer tournament Saturday starting at 10 a.m.

One division will consist of varsity teams from Bay City, Lansing, Lithia of Chicago, Aurora, Ill., and the Kickers. The second division will be old-timer's teams consisting of men over 35 years old. Saxon's, Lithia and Green-White of Chicago and the Kickers will have teams in that division.

The winners of both groups will get trophies for their efforts.

There will be a $2 charge for the games but the admission includes a dance to be held at the clubhouse at the field.

Scott Thrilled To Join Celts

BOSTON (AP) — Charlie Scott, the newest Boston Celtic, was introduced to the press Tuesday and told reporters, "Coming to the Celtics is probably the biggest thrill of my life."

Scott, originally drafted by the Celtics in 1970, went to the rival American Basketball Association for two years, then hooked up with the Phoenix Sun of the National Basketball Association, where he became a star.

Plangger's Host For Tournament

Plangger's will host two Niles teams in the Michigan Softball Association Class A district tournament which starts next Wednesday.

Plangger's faces Misty Acres in the opener of the double elimination event, with the winner taking on Hammi's Thursday night and the losers of the first two games playing Friday.

The championship game is slated for Monday, with another game, if necessary, on Tuesday. All games will start at 8 p.m.

The Class B, C and D tournaments will be held later in the month.

Bridesmaid Babashoff Grabs Gold Ring

U.S. Relay Team Breaks World Record

CALI, Colombia (AP) — Shirley Babashoff, a perpetual bridesmaid, finally grabbed the gold ring, but it was an American relay team that landed the biggest catch of the night — a world record.

Miss Babashoff, an 18-year-old collegian from Fountain Valley, Calif., opened the swimming program Wednesday night at the second World Aquatic Championships with a stunning victory over world record-holder Kornelia Ender in the 200-meter freestyle, and a foursome of fearless freestylers closed the festivities with a rousing, record-breaking performance in the men's 4-by-100 freestyle relay.

In between, Ulfike Richter of East Germany won the women's 100 backstroke, Andras Hargitay of Hungary won the men's 400 individual medley and Hannelore Anke of East Germany won the women's 100 breaststroke.

Miss Babashoff was timed in 2:02.50 to set meet and American records. Miss Ender had set the previous mark of 2:04.07 in the qualifying earlier in the day.

Winning was on the minds of Bruce Furniss, Jim Montgomery, Andy Coan and John Murphy — the American freestyle relay team — but it was of secondary importance to breaking a world record.

"We all knew we could break the record before we got on the blocks," said Coan, a high school senior from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., "and we're glad we did it."

"Our goal was to set a record," said Ron Ballatore, coach of the American swimmers. "We knew we could do it because our times added up to it."

The American quartet was clocked in 3:24.85, shaving .32 off the old world record of 3:25.17, which had been set by a different American squad at the inaugural World Aquatic Games in Belgrade in 1973.

The two victories Wednesday night gave the Americans a team high of five gold medals, along with three silver and three bronze. The East Germans are right behind with four gold, three silver and one bronze.

The Americans' chances for a medal in water polo were dealt a severe blow Wednesday with a 10-4 loss to Italy. But the Yugoslavians caused the greatest stir on the water polo front, refusing to play Australia because the team's victory over West Germany Monday was taken away following a positive ping test on one of its players.

However, after the forfeit to Australia, some instructions arrived from Belgrade and the Yugoslavians will be in the water today for their match against Colombia.

Others making splashes today will be competitors attempting to qualify in the women's platform diving, and participants in the men's 400 freestyle, the women's 400 individual medley, the men's backstroke, the men's 200 breaststroke, the women's 100 butterfly and the men's 200 butterfly. Swimming qualifications begin at 9 a.m. EST. Finals in these events will begin at 7 p.m.

Packer Eyes Starting Job

Toner Must Fill Shoes Of Ted Hendricks

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Coach Bart Starr said Wednesday the Green Bay Packers were "progressing on schedule" in their week-old football training camp.

For third-year linebacker Tom Toner, however, schedules went out the window, a victim of circumstances.

Toner, a reserve his first two seasons with the Packers, stepped into the No. 1 left-linebacking spot vacated Tuesday when all-pro Ted Hendricks said he could not reach agreement on a new contract with Green Bay, and would seek employment elsewhere.

"Hendricks is a great linebacker," Toner acknowledged. "I want to be a great linebacker, too."

Toner, a sixth-round draft choice in 1973, who switched from defensive end, started three games in his rookie season. He would have played behind Hendricks in 1974, but he broke his collarbone in the preseason and spent the year on the injured reserve list.

"What hurt was losing the experience," he said. "Experience is the best teacher in my position, and it was costly having to sit out. I'm still learning the position, although I feel more confident now."

"I feel very confident that I can play as a starter. There are a lot of things that I can improve on, but I know they'll come. If I didn't believe in my ability, I wouldn't be here in the first place."

There is competition for the job, however. Although Toner has the inside track, Veterans Ron Acks and Noel Jenke would also like to start, and Toner believes Acks is his top challenger.

"Look, I'm not assuming a thing," Toner said. "There is plenty of competition among linebackers and all I can do is try to impress the coaches. If I'm No. 1 now, I have to work just as hard to stay there."

Starr cut short Wednesday's afternoon workout when a downpour washed through the area. The respite may have been extra-welcome, coming shortly after the grueling nut-cracker drill, where offensive and defensive players knock heads.

"I think we're progressing on schedule," Starr said. "We have a lot to do, but we are keeping up with our timetable."

Loves Keep Promise In Hot Streak

From ASSOCIATED PRESS — The Indiana Loves promised they would be a better team after the World Team Tennis midseason break for Wimbledon, and so far they've kept their promise.

The Loves won four of five sets Wednesday night and easily beat the Phoenix Racquets 30-18 in Indianapolis.

It was the first victory over the Racquets after four straight losses this season. It also was the Loves' sixth victory in their last 10 matches over a tough 12-day stretch.

It also moved Indiana, battling for a playoff berth, into a third-place tie with Cleveland in the WTT Eastern Division.

Indiana's attack Wednesday night was led by Ray Ruffels, who beat Jeff Austin 6-2 in men's singles and then teamed with Allan Stone to beat Austin and George Taylor 6-1 in doubles.

Phoenix' only victory came in women's singles as Francoise Durr beat Wendy Overton 7-5.

In other action, the New York Jets, sparked by a come-from-behind victory by Sandy Mayer in men's singles, beat the Cleveland Nets 25-21 before 3,167 fans at Uniondale, N.Y.

Mayer was trailing 4-1 and down three break points when a forehand shot hit the net cord and tumbled over, much to Marty Riessen's surprise. Riessen lost the game and subsequently the set 6-4. It was the third time Mayer beat Riessen this year.

BETWEEN TWO GIANTS: Rob Jackson of Montreal, a home town hopeful in this week's Canadian Open, stands between golf giants Jack Nicklaus (right) and

Tom Weiskopf during practice round Wednesday. Nicklaus is one of the favorites in the strongest field ever assembled for the tournament. (AP Wirephoto)

Ellspermann, Tobin Share First Place

DOWAGIAC — Former St. Joseph high school standouts Tom Ellspermann and Pat Tobin each finished in 28:24 in the college division five-mile run yesterday to tie for top spot in that group in the Russ Forest Trail Run sponsored by the Roadrunner track club.

In the five-mile run, 11-12 grade group, Marty Kirk of St. Joe took first place with a 28:52 and Dave Nelson of St. Joseph won the 9-10 grade group with a 36:16 clocking.

In the 2 1/2 mile run, the college group was taken by Tom Houseman of Niles in 12:09, 11-12 by Dave Noble of Niles in 11:55 and 9-10 by Mike Deniko of Niles in 11:35. The men's age 36-39 group was won by Jim Murray of Niles-Brandwine with a 16:02 clocking.

In the 1/2 mile run, men's division, Doug Fisher of Benton Harbor took a first in the 11-12 grade group with a 5:28 while Mike Parrish of Benton Harbor won the 9-10 group, also with a 5:28 clocking. Lakeshore's Dave Cowgill was the winner in the 7-8 with a 5:33 and Glen Brown of Lakeshore won the men's group with a 6:53. In the pre-second grade group, Jim Murray of Niles took first with an 8:18 clocking.

In the women's mile, Tammy Nichols of Niles won the 11-12 group with a 7:39, Mary Heyn of Niles was first in the 9-10 with an 8:01 and in the 5-6 grade group, Nichole Sodel of Niles won it with an 8:49.

'M' Cagers Set For Egypt Tour

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The University of Michigan basketball team will leave July 31 for a 12-day tour of Egypt, university officials said Monday.

The team will play eight games during the trip and participate in three basketball clinics in several Egyptian cities. Ten players will make the trip, along with a student manager and head coach Johnny Orr, assistant coach John Dutcher and their wives.

The NCAA-approved trip is sponsored by the U.S. State Department and the People to People Sports Committee, officials said. The tour is financed through private contributions.

Ashe Survives Second Round Scare

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wimbledon Champion Arthur Ashe survived a scare in the second round of the Washington Star Tennis Tournament, defeating Australian Dick Crealy 2-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Crealy broke Ashe's serve three times in the first set Wednesday before Ashe turned the tide by breaking Crealy in the first game of the second set at love.

Meanwhile, No. 1 seed Guillermo Vilas and No. 3 like Nastase won. Vilas defeated Dennis Ralston 6-2, 6-0, and Nastase eliminated Sherwood Stewart 6-2, 6-3.

The only seeded player to lose was No. 14 Bob Lutz, who fell to Ismail el Shafel 4-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Ashe, seeded No. 2 here in his first tournament since winning at Wimbledon, said, "I wasn't thinking about winning. I felt if I kept doing what I was doing he'd cool off, and he did."

"He's a very streaky player. I've seen him blow off good players like Tom Okker in 45 minutes. But no one can keep hitting the shots he was in the first set."

Early in the match, Crealy showed a strong serve and forehand and had almost no trouble with Ashe's hard shots at his feet. Crealy is a right-hander better known for his ability in doubles play than in singles competition.

In the first set "nearly every one of his balls was within a yard of a line," Ashe said. In addition, many Crealy shots hit the net and fell over or landed on lines.

In the first game of the second set, Ashe rifled two backhand passing shots past Crealy as the Australian came to the net. "You have to break the momentum of a hot player like that," Ashe said.

Despite Loss Of Kicking Glory Garo Yepremian Still Happy

MIAMI (AP) — Garo Yepremian's fame as field goal kicker of the Miami Dolphins diminished some last year when new National Football League rules resulted in him trying only 15 three-pointers and making eight.

And with the rules still awarding opposing teams the football from the line of scrimmage where the field goal was missed, Yepremian's long distance boots will probably be few and far between again this year.

But the naturalized American citizen said Wednesday he doesn't care about losing the glory that came to him in four previous seasons with Miami, in which he had between 22 and 28 field goals a season, including one 54 and one 53-yarder.

"As long as we win, that's what counts," said Yepremian, 31, a native of Cyprus. "I'm not out to set records of kicking field goals. I'm out to help the team."

"It doesn't bother me at all as long as I'm part of the team and as long as I'm contributing," he added.

The balding, soccer-style kicker made all 43 of his extra point attempts last year, but his point total of 67 was his lowest total with the club. He was responsible for 117, 115 and 113 points, respectively, in three prior seasons.

Yepremian did a lot of running in the off-season to keep his leg in shape and has been concentrating in camp on his kickoffs.

"I wasn't hitting it as deep as I should last year," he explained. "I'm improved my kickoffs this year. I'm hitting the ball a lot deeper."

In the New Orleans camp, it was announced that offensive lineman Francis Peay has decided to retire rather than report to the Saints. Peay, a former No. 1 draft choice of the New York Giants, was traded to New Orleans by the Kansas City Chiefs.

Coach Mike McCormack of the Philadelphia Eagles says his starting defensive left end will be Carter Campbell, a former New York Giants' star who spent last season in the World Football League.

The move shifts Will "Early" Wynn, who started at left end in 1974, to the right side and Joe Jones, the team leader in quarterback sacks last year, becomes the third end.

Three of the four Pittsburgh Steelers quarterbacks got into a 15-play scrimmage Wednesday, with only Terry Hanratty left out.

"We wanted to get a look at all four quarterbacks, but we were running late and it was awful hot down there, so (Terry) Hanratty did not get in," Coach Chuck Noll said.

Injuries have taken their toll at a number of camps, although only linebacker Jim Baker of the WFL's Southern California Sun appeared to be seriously hurt. Baker had a cast placed on his left knee and is expected to be out for at least five weeks.

St. Joseph MINOR LEAGUE

Winning pitcher Aldredge went four-for-four, including two doubles, as the Twins downed the Giants 21-3. Gentry and Kapp each had a double for the Twins. Taylor hit a triple for the Giants as Mike Neltigan took the loss.

ELKS GIRLS SOFTBALL

Debbie Mantel hit two home runs and got the win as the Lassies beat the Robins 24-21. Mary Agay, Kim Friesas, Sabrina Sloan and Lida Carlisle had three hits for the winners. Dee Mahoney and Kim Zimmerman hit home runs for the Robins.

ELKS GIRLS CUB LEAGUE

The Wildcats clinched the league championship with a 21-0 win over the Bluejays. Laura Avelles and Teri Hill homered for the Wildcats with Hill and Tracy Gaylor sharing the pitching duties.

Blossomland

BABE RUTH

Mike Masini pitched a five-hitter and struck out nine as the Giants topped the Yanks 7-4. Ted Nisbet and Ken Owsianka worked the winners with three hits and two RBIs each.

PONY LEAGUE

RC Cole beat the Reds 6-2 to win the championship of the league. Winning pitcher Mike Mervenne had two hits. Bob Reithel took the loss.

NEW YORK — Robert Schmertz, an owner of the National Basketball Association Boston Celtics, died at the age of 64.

TAMPA, Fla. — Bill Gibson, basketball coach at the University of South Florida, died of an apparent heart attack at the age of 67.

Winning Streak

St. Joseph Catholic won its seventh game in a row as it defeated the Church of God 12-7 in a St. Joseph Church League softball game.

Terry Elter went four-for-five and Bill Smith went three-for-four as John Smetanka picked up the win. Landis had a double and a single for the home team.

Kentucky State And NCAA May Clash Over Suspension

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky State University officials say they won't approve further punishment for KSU basketball coach "Lucas Mitchell, whose one year suspension for alleged involvement in the pro recruiting of KSU players was made public Wednesday, even if it means indefinite probation for the school's entire mens' athletic program."

KSU Athletic Director Dr. William Exum, a member of the National Collegiate Athletic Association Executive Committee, confirmed that "much more was at stake than Mitchell's being suspended for one year. It may include the entire program before it's over with."

But Dr. Joseph Leone, chairman of the KSU Board of Regents, has said flatly: "There won't be any further punishment against the coach. It doesn't matter what they (the NCAA) decide."

Exum said Wednesday the university suspended Mitchell for one season after receiving a suspension request from the NCAA that suggested a maximum penalty of ten years suspension or dismissal.

But, Exum said, "we got a letter from the NCAA two days ago and they wouldn't bargain. We have 15 days to make an appeal. The final issue will be decided when they meet in Chicago on Aug. 12."

"It's not like this thing started last week. The NCAA has had people snooping around here for a long time without us knowing it," the athletic director said.

NCAA has never been faced with such a case before and indicated that KSU might seek legal relief, if necessary.

Meanwhile, Mitchell said he was glad word of his suspension, handed down several months ago, had been made public. "I'm glad this is now out in the open. I like Frankfort and I like Kentucky State and I want to stay here," he added.

He has been allowed to remain on as a teacher at the university although the board of regents has restricted him from associating with the team during the next year.

Mitchell's suspension apparently stems from charges that he accepted money from former KSU All-Americans, Elmore Smith and Travis Grant, after they signed with the pros. Smith went with the Buffalo Braves and Grant with the Los Angeles Lakers, but have both since been traded — Smith to the Milwaukee Bucks and Grant to the San Diego Conquistadors.

Fun Month Starts In Ionia

August Offers 46 Fairs In Michigan

When it's August in Michigan, it's "Hi Ho, Come To The Fair" time. The Calendar of Travel

Events lists 46 in all, opening with the Ionia Free fair, Ionia, Aug. 1-10 and climaxing with the grand 'n glorious Michigan

State fair, Detroit, Aug. 22-Sept. 1, according to the Michigan Travel commission. Some of the major fairs coming up are the Western Michigan fair, Ludington, Aug. 12-18; Upper Peninsula State fair, Escanaba, Aug. 12-17; Northwestern Michigan fair, Traverse City, Aug. 23-30; and the Eastern Michigan fair, Imlay City, Aug. 25-Sept. 1.

If you aren't a fair fan, don't despair because there are over 60 other fun things happening during the month's 31 days. Among them, of course, are Detroit's weekend ethnic festivals on the riverfront west of Cobo hall. The August schedule begins with the Ukrainians, Aug. 1-3, followed by the Polish, Aug. 8-10; the Scandinavian festival, Aug. 15-17; Armenian festival, Aug. 22-24; with the International festival moving in for the finale, Aug. 29-Sept. 1.

The citizens of Greenville extend a robust "Velkommen" to the 11th annual Danish festival, Aug. 15-17. Among the events scheduled are the Fairy Tale parade, a Danish tavern and smorgasbord, strolling bands, canoe races and a variety of other festive fare for all the family.

Those looking for a little nostalgia will find more than one spot to head for. Leading the list is the Old Time Summer festival at Greenfield Village, Dearborn, which continues through Aug. 31 complete with Doc Bryson's medicine show, Lincoln-

Douglas debates and trips aboard the paddle-wheel steamboat, Suwanee. On the shores of Little Traverse Bay at Harbor Springs, drum and badge competition will be the order of the day Aug. 2 in Otawa stadium. Gladwin county will be recalling some memories Aug. 3-9 as it celebrates its 100th birthday at Gladwin. The same holds true for Roscommon county Aug. 8-9 at Houghton lake.

On the sports front, the 1975 AAU National Senior Outdoor Synchronized Swimming championships will be held at Michigan State university Aug. 1-7. Over 500 competitors from the United States as well as guests from several foreign countries will be participating in this girls athletic sport of water gymnastics. Aug. 2-10 the action moves from the pool to the net and the National Boys 16-18 Tennis championship at Kalamazoo college, Kalamazoo.

Something very special will be happening for some very special people when Central Michigan university plays host to the International Special Olympics, Aug. 7-9 at Mt. Pleasant. The games are "international" because the participants will represent all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign countries. The participants are "special" because the 3,000 athletes competing are mentally retarded.

Still on the sports scene, the Midwestern Council of Sports Car clubs have races scheduled Aug. 9-10 at Grattan International speedway, Grattan. On the same dates, another group of enthusiasts will be "teeling up" for the Northern Michigan Open Golf tournament at the Cheboygan Golf and Country club, Cheboygan. There will be still another type of competition Aug. 17 as paddlers put forth their best in the Pere Marquette River Canoe race from Scottville to Ludington.

And Aug. 30-31 it's the Eastern National Drag Boat races at Holloway Reservoir Regional park near Flint.

NOW SEE HERE!

By Bert Bacharach

KITCHEN-SNOOPING: Salad hint: Make fresh croutons by rolling bread cubes in melted butter and grated cheese. Broil until golden (Nell Gwyn's Tavern). Garnish buttered noodles with grated Parmesan cheese and chives for a delicious flavor (Dorcas, S.F.). To perk up mashed potatoes, serve with a topping of sautéed onions (The Concord, Klamath Lake).

SMATTERING OF SIGNS: The Arian-born has a strong, sharp way of speaking and can be quite blunt in contact with others, to the point of hurting. With a Libran, the success of others often deepens his own inferiority complex. Leo may not always be sure of his power to attract, but he sure has it. With the summer weather here, Sid Allen's Jersey restaurant has trebled the number of bicycle racks at the parking lot there. George Burns' movie, "The Sunshine Boys," will premiere at the Radio City Music Hall — and he'll also do a concert at Carnegie Hall. (The Halls are alive with the sounds of Georgie!) Sandwich Favorite of Chris Leachman: A hamburger on a bun that has been spread with a thick layer of guacamole. Sue Currier, singing hostess in the Gaslight Club, is one of the prettiest girls in town. (If you do not agree — see me!).

Columbia Pictures will shortly name the stars of their film of Irving Wallace's "The Fan Club" sizzler. (With appropriate Fan-Fare?) Flazsh! There's a new Czech actor named Zbynek Zyznyk. Faded Phrases: "She's just a passing fancy," "Never darken my door again" and "She has high-falootin' ideas."

The comfort that's built in stays in with double insulation and luxury cushioning of white layer felt and high-density Sealyfoam®.

Word Received Here On Details Of Crash That Killed Ex-SJ Boy

A former St. Joseph boy was a passenger in a car when he was killed early Tuesday morning at Tucson, Ariz. Five other youths were injured in the accident.

The death of Neil Mahoney, 16, of Tucson, was reported in the Wednesday edition of The Herald-Palladium. He was killed when the car in which he was a passenger went out of control at the corner of the road and sailed 150 feet before it landed and overturned.

The driver of the car and another passenger were reported in serious condition in a Tucson hospital.

Among survivors are his mother, Mrs. Frances Mahoney, of Tucson, and two brothers from the Twin Cities area, Charles of Benton Harbor, and Patrick, of Stevensville.

June 24, 1959, in St. Joseph. His father, Charles Mahoney, preceded him in death in 1968.

Funeral services and burial will be held tomorrow in Tucson.

Candidates To Air Views At South Haven Monday

SOUTH HAVEN — A quiz-the-candidate program for hopefuls in the upcoming South Haven election will be held by four South Haven area unions Monday, July 28 at 7:30 p.m. at the Odd Fellows Hall, 558 Superior street.

Three candidates for mayor and the candidates for the three aldermanic races have been invited to participate according to co-chairmen Randy Harrington and Quibie Maddox.

Each candidate will present a short statement and then a moderator will read questions submitted in writing by members of the audience.

The program is sponsored by Local 438 of the United Furniture Workers of America which represents employees at Everett Piano company and S. E. Overton company and Locals 1210, 1425 and 90 of the United Auto Workers which represents employees at Both Aluminum and Brass company, South Haven Rubber company and National Motor Castings company.

The program is not limited to union members as the public is welcome to attend according to Harrington.

The program is the only activity in date in which the three mayoral candidates will appear together. The primary election will be Aug. 5.

Divers Recover Body

BAY CITY, Mich. (AP) — Divers from the Bay County Sheriff's Department have recovered the body of Gilbert Jungerheld, 35, of Saginaw, who drowned Sunday in Saginaw Bay. Jungerheld and a companion were sailing on the bay Sunday when their boat overturned. The companion made it back into the boat and reported the accident, deputies said. Divers searched for the body from Sunday until late Wednesday, when it was recovered, deputies said.

Owners Of Buchanan Apartments Sue Builders For $1.1 Million

The owners of an apartment complex in Buchanan have filed suit in Berrien circuit court seeking more than $1 million from the Niles construction company which built the apartments.

The plaintiffs, James and Patricia Weiss, of Oakland county, and Weiss and Richard Allison, partners in Chippewa Hills Associates, of Farmington, seek $1,095,922—the cost for construction of Chippewa Hills apartments, on West Fourth street in Buchanan.

Named defendants were Smith and Schaller Construction Co., of Niles; F.G. Schaller & Co., also of Niles; Fred Schaller, president of Smith and Schaller; and Leonard Smith, major shareholder in Smith and Schaller.

The plaintiffs claim they contracted with the defendants on July 17, 1973, for construction of the apartments for $1,095,922, but claim the defendants failed to perform work described in the contract, failed to provide all the services needed for completion, and failed to complete the apartments on time. The suit alleges a breach of contract, which resulted in additional labor and maintenance costs and new equipment.

Woman Charged In Alleged Threat Against Witness

An 18-year-old woman was charged yesterday with extortion of a witness yesterday in connection with alleged threats made against the mother of a rape victim during a preliminary examination in Berrien Fifth District court.

Booked and lodged in the county jail was Karen Lewis, of 249 Lake avenue, Benton Harbor. She is charged with threatening to injure the victim's mother outside the courtroom during the preliminary hearing for James R. Showan, 27, of 1200 East Empire, Benton Harbor.

Following the hearing yesterday

Showan was bound over to Circuit court on a charge of second degree criminal sexual conduct, statutory rape.

Benton Harbor Patrolman Greg Platts reported that he broke up an alleged fight between Karen Lewis and the rape victim's mother near the coffee shop of the courthouse about 3:30 a.m. The victim's mother was not charged, Platts said. Neither woman appeared injured, but the mother of the alleged rape victim reported some pain in her back and stomach and was to see her doctor, police said.

Karen Lewis was to be arraigned on the felony charge today in District court.

Jury Convicts South Havenite

PAW PAW — A Van Buren circuit court jury deliberated about one hour yesterday before convicting Ralph Cunningham, 24, South Haven, on a charge of armed robbery.

Cunningham had been arrested in connection with the robbery at gunpoint of $84 from two women last Nov. 1 at a South Haven township mobile home.

He now faces a maximum life imprisonment term.

Attorneys in the case were Van Buren Prosecutor Frank D. Willis and John Szymanski of Bangor.

Woman Bound Over In Van Buren Killing

PAW PAW — Sandra K. Strickler, 21, Kalamazoo, was bound over to Van Buren circuit court yesterday following preliminary examination in Seventh district court on a charge of first-degree murder.

Miss Strickler was arrested in connection with the March 5 slaying of 28-year-old Sarah Towne of Kalamazoo, whose badly slashed body was found in an open field in Porter township.

Miss Strickler's preliminary examination had been delayed while she underwent psychiatric examination. She was ordered held in the Van Buren county jail in lieu of $20,000 bond.

Berrien Forgery Charge Dropped

In Berrien Fifth District court yesterday an old forgery charge was dismissed against a man because the prosecution could find none of the original witnesses.

Also yesterday three persons were bound over to Circuit court, one demanded examination and 12 were sentenced.

Released yesterday was Felix Salazar, 24, of Benton Center road, Benton township, who was charged with forging a $35 check at National Food Store, Benton township, on Oct. 28, 1968. Most of the witnesses in the case have left the area, and the store has gone out of business.

Bound over were: Sidney Caldwell, 19, of 1781 Council drive, Benton township, and Floyd Caldwell, 25, of 191 Colfax avenue, Benton Harbor, charged with armed robbery June 7 in Lincoln township. Both remained jailed in lieu of $100,000 bonds.

James R. Showan, 27, of 1200 East Empire, Benton Harbor, charged with second degree criminal sexual assault, statutory rape, July 6 in Benton township. He was jailed on $10,000 bail.

Demanding examination was Wayne O. Wyatt, 17, of 848 Miller drive, St. Joseph, charged with first degree criminal sexual assault, forcible rape, July 13 in Benton township. He was freed on $15,000 bond.

Sentenced for the following violations were:

Petty larceny — Harold O. Holt, 18, of US-33, Ronnie L. Fly, 31, of 367 Brunson and Robbie R. Siler, 17, of US-33, all of Benton Harbor, each fine and costs of $121 or 30 days in jail; James D. Saffell, 18, of 1134 McIntosh, Benton Harbor, 90 days in jail.

Driving while license suspended — Henry Davis, 33, of Rock Island, Ill., three days in jail and $80, or 12 days in jail total; Ernest R. Turner, 22, of 5607 Little Paw Paw Lake road, Coloma, 90 days in jail for second offense.

Driving while intoxicated — James H. Lewis, 33, of 686 Pearl street, Benton Harbor, 120 days in jail for second offense; James D. Angeles, 21, of LaPorte, Ind., $151 and, for malicious destruction to property, the turf at Blossom Trail Golf course, Benton township, four days in jail, $75, one year probation and restitution for damages.

Impaired driving — Richard F. LeValley, 46, of 4177 Washington, St. Joseph, $101; Joe C. Weaver, 46, of Stevensville, $400 for second offense.

Others sentenced were: Rubin Garcia, 22, of Gary, Ind., $200 or 30 days in jail for possession of a gas-ejecting pistol in a car July 5 in Three Oaks.

Ivan D. Swanigan, 17, of 444 Maple, Benton Harbor, $31 or five days in jail for disorderly person, creating a disturbance, July 21 in Benton Harbor.

Dowagiac Pair Face Charges

DOWAGIAC — A Dowagiac man and his wife posted $100 bonds each yesterday following their arrest on warrants charging them with moving without obtaining a city moving permit, according to Dowagiac police.

City police allege that Robert and Anita Smith, now of 412 First Avenue, moved from their home at 405 Pennsylvania without first obtaining a city moving permit as required by city ordinance.

The Smiths are to be arraigned on the charges before a city magistrate, a city police spokesman said.

Drowning Victim Identified

ALLEGAN — A body recovered from Lake Michigan earlier this month has been identified as a Dorr area man, according to Allegan county sheriff's deputies.

Fingerprints taken from the body matched those belonging to Paul Langlois Jr., 18, deputies said.

Dr. William Schock of Saugatuck, deputy county medical examiner, said the cause of death was drowning. It was the first drowning in the county this year.

The body was recovered from the lake July 16 after a man was reported swept into the lake by high waves as he fished from a pier in Saugatuck on July 8.

A car and fishing equipment near the pier were identified as belonging to Langlois, deputies said.

13c Letter Seen By Year's End

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new labor agreement for postal workers will make it necessary to increase the cost of mailing a first-class letter to 13 cents by the end of the year, Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar says.

Bailar said Wednesday that he had hoped the deficit-ridden Postal Service could meet its financial needs by increasing the first-class rate from 10 cents to 12 cents an ounce on July 1.

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — The Seoul police department fired a record 103 officers today on grounds they received payoffs from pickpocket rings. Sixteen others were dismissed Tuesday for the same reason.

Loot Is Useless

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Thieves who made off with $400 in checks and a typewriter from the south side office of the Maccandian Tribune earlier this week really didn't fare very well.

Officials of the newspaper noted it won't be easy to cash the checks made out to the Maccandian. And they said it certainly should be difficult to sell a typewriter that types only Cyrillic characters.

Stocks Continue Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market came under selling pressure again today in an atmosphere of concern over recent declines on Wall Street.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off a fraction and declines took a 2-1 lead over advances on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers reported a spreading feeling in the investment community that the downward correction in stock prices which has been widely predicted for months was at last under way.

The selling which set in at the middle of last week has been accompanied by uneasiness over the interest rate outlook and fears of a resurgence of inflation.

This morning, Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, confirmed that the central bank has taken steps lately to cool down the growth of the nation's money supply. Those moves have resulted in an upswing in interest rates that has lasted for several weeks.

Today's early prices included Merck, off 1/4 at 77 1/2; Alaska Interstate, down 1/2 at 13 1/2; Monsanto, down 3/4 at 70 1/2; and Union Oil of California, 3/4 lower at 47.

On Wednesday the Dow Jones industrial average dropped 10.00 to 836.67.

That brought the Dow's decline over the past six trading days to 45.14 points, its largest sustained setback of the year.

Largely overpowered gains by nearly a 5-1 margin on the Big Board in turnover of 20.15 million shares.

The NYSE's composite common-stock index was down .72 at 46.40.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was off 1.54 at 82.41.

Bank Picks Cashier

DOWAGIAC — Robert O. Birkhold Jr. of Dowagiac, an assistant vice president of the Community State bank of Dowagiac since 1972, has been promoted to the position of cashier, the bank's board of directors announced.

Birkhold, 31, assumes the duties held by George Watkins, the bank's president and former cashier. Watkins relinquishes the title of cashier and remains as president.

Birkhold has been employed by the bank since 1967. He and his wife, Connie, have two children and reside at 203 Spruce.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

High Grade Bonds Give Top Income

By SAM SHULSKY
Q. I am a widow, 69, who began investing in 1960. I never made a killing, but I accumulated some good gains which I never cashed in because I feared the tax bite. Now that I have retired and have no tax problems, my stocks all sell for less than I paid. Now I am thinking of corporate and tax-exempt bonds which are a lot safer—especially if I can get them at a discount.

A. Without knowing the stocks you hold there is no way one can say whether you should have sold out and paid the gains tax—or held on, as you did.

If the stocks were bought as part of a capital building program and not for a lifetime retirement portfolio you would have been justified in taking the gains and reinvesting in income situations. If they were lending utility stocks, for example, which suffered in last year's utility crisis, you would have been justified in holding on.

At 69 you certainly should consider putting your money to work in high grade bonds—corporate. If your income tax bracket does not approach the 30-35 per cent level, tax-exempts, as a source of that portion of your income which would be taxable at higher rates.

I don't think you should let the size of the discount sway your judgment. Top quality corporate (and tax-exempts) sell at a discount primarily because the coupon rate they carry—issued at a time of lower interest rates—cannot compete with the interest rates available today. But a bond may also sell at a discount if its quality rating has been impaired and there is doubt as to maintenance of interest service or of payment at maturity. So don't go by discount alone.

As a matter of fact, since you are in need of current income it would be far better for you to pay for a recent bond issue carrying a 6 per cent coupon than it would to buy an older 4 or 5 per cent coupon issue at a discount which would yield, say, 6 per cent current, with the rest coming to you in the form of a capital gain at maturity.

A top quality discount bond is priced by the same rules as a top quality bond selling at par. Some investors prefer to get part of their reward in the future in the form of a lower-taxed capital gain. If I read your letter correctly, you want maximum income now.

TAX EXEMPT UTILITIES
Q. Why do some utility stocks pay dividends which are considered a return of capital and therefore exempt from current income taxes?

A. These exemptions—which are fast fading—were the result of various bookkeeping factors and, to a limited extent, carry-over of losses suffered years ago when utility holding companies were dissolved by government decree.

FOREIGN DEPOSIT
Q. I deposited money in a foreign bank. My dollars were converted into the foreign currency. Could I lose if the exchange rate goes against me?

A. Naturally.
NO COMMENT
Q. I frequently comment on local over-the-counter stocks.

A. Sorry, wrong number. I never comment on local counter stocks.

Gunsmoke's Doc Planning New Career At 72

By ROBIN ADAMS SLOAN
Q: Is the actor who played Doc on Gunsmoke, Milburn Stone, still alive? I remember he had heart surgery. - O.P., La Jolla, Calif.

A: Seventy-two-year-old Stone made a remarkable recovery. He and his wife Jane are building a huge house in Santa Fe, N.M., but not for retirement. Stone is planning a new career raising prize livestock.

Q: I saw a wonderful TV program about Jackie Susann and I began to think of her widower, Irving Mansfield. Do you think he'll marry again? - F.P., Daytona Beach, Fla.

A: Irving has been dating actress Polly Bergen quite steadily but it's too soon to say whether they'll marry. Polly is divorced from big talent agent Freddie Fields.

Q: What's Bob Dylan doing these days? - E.T., Los Angeles, Calif.

A: Dylan has been commuting between New York and Los Angeles. He is working on some new songs in the East but meantime is building a "Taj Mahal" on the beach north of Malibu estimated to contain 14,000 square feet of space — an royalty and a slew of rich businessmen.

Robin Adams Sloan welcomes questions from readers. While Sloan cannot provide individual answers, questions of general interest will be used in the column. Write to Robin Adams Sloan, care of this newspaper.

STONE: Alive . . . and building.

SUSANN: Widower Irving is dating.

DYLAN: A new 'place' to write songs.

PEOPLE

appropriate place for him to sit and write songs about the injustice and prejudice riddling the capitalist system.

QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED: Why are some know-it-alls going ich-tch over the flop of director Peter Bogdanovich's movie, "At Long Last Love"? Because they could have "told him so." The title song was written by Cole Porter for a Broadway musical called "You Never Know." Clifton Webb sang it first and ever since "At Long Last Love" has been considered a jinx song. Porter had suffered a disastrous accident when his horse fell on him (years later one of his legs was amputated as a result) and he worked on the lyrics of the song while waiting for help, to keep his mind off his pain.

Q: Is there any reason the mechanical shark in "Jaws," was called Bruce by the people making the movie? - W.T., Woods Hole, Mass.

A: Young director Steven Spielberg named the awesome monster "Bruce" after his attorney, Bruce Ramey. (Actually, there were three "Bruces" — one to swim right, one to swim left, one to swim straight on.)

Q: I heard there's a place in London where people can get a whole new identity... surely that sort of thing is illegal? - B.R.G., Greenwich, Conn.

A: The place you mention is a plush hairdressing salon near London airport, whose proprietor offers disguises for males who want to take off for a clandestine weekend without being spotted. For $120, the client gets fixed up with goatee, mustache, false eyebrows, sideburns, enlarged nostrils and dark glasses. And, for a slight extra charge, false teeth. Colored contact lenses and other gimmicks are also available. The owner boasts his clientele includes two members of Parliament, plus some foreign

Louisville Busing Begins This Fall

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — When school opens this September, 23,000 pupils will be bused to other neighborhoods in a court-ordered program to even the white-black ratio in city and county schools.

After four years of suits by civil rights groups and appeals by the school administration, a desegregation plan approved by U. S. District Court Judge James P. Gordon will be put into action when classes begin Sept. 4 in Louisville and surrounding Jefferson County.

OLDEST NATIVE DIES.
ORANGEVILLE, Ont. (AP) — Sophia Rayburn, 100, the oldest known native-born Canadian and only four days younger than the nation itself, has died in this town 20 miles northwest of Toronto.
